Republican Accountability

It is the Republican party which must bear responsibility for the fact there is today a bitterly controversial civil rights issue in the nation and the even more grave onus for the presence of a blurred image of the Negro's citizenship status.

We are a nation confronted with acrimonious division over this problem because, in 1876-77 the Republican party, in order to confirm the fraudulent election of Rutherford B. Hayes, agreed to abandon implementation of the relatively new constitutional provisions in exchange for Democratic acceptance of the electoral commission's decision.

Hayes, greeted by critics as "His Fraudulency," brazenly rewarded those who had helped the steal in Louisiana and Florida. The South was turned over to those eager to exploit its resources and to profit from the bonds which could be profitably floated on rail and water lines.

There were threats of more civil war and instance of violence, but the administration was on the side of the vested interests. Hayes, for example, used federal troops to break a strike of railway employes and took pride in the fact he had restored "order."

Part of Deal

Newspapers, some gleefully, and some angrily, noted and charged that the rights of the newly made Negro citizens were hypocritically abandoned as a part of the deal. They were. And since they were, the issue has been remindful of the legend of the sown dragons teeth. But meanwhile, the South could, as it did, find reason to believe that the nation, despite the Constitution, officially and permanently had relegated the Negro to a position where he was a citizen in theory, but not in fact.

There is explanation, if not justification, for some of the bewilderment and anger over what seems to many Southerners a reversal and a revival of an issue settled long ago by the Republican administrations which for so long dominated the government and appointed carefully screened men to the courts.

It was, of course, inevitable, as civilization progressed and two world wars dramatized freedom and human rights, that the cynical sell - out of 1877 would be disinterred. There is no way for the Republican party to escape accountability for this dilemma and if the Deep South Democrats claim they were assured in 1877 and the years thereafter that the issue was settled, they are right. They were so assured.

But that does not remove the accountability then, or now.

Long Story

It is, if one knows the long story of the years which followed the Hayes-Tilden steal and the price paid, not too difficult to understand why the South has for so long failed to comprehend that under the Constitution of the United States the Negro is as fully entitled to all the rights accorded a citizen as any other person.

It was not until Franklin D. Roosevelt came to the White House that actions were begun in this field. The approach was begun in the courts. And there it has largely remained.

Since all peoples everywhere do much of their thinking in terms of images, this bit of the past helps explain the present. The average Southerner of today, and his father before him, simply never entertained the image of the Negro as a citizen. His father knew old men who told the tale of the Hayes "fix" and the deal whereby the Negro was removed from citizenship. So it is today that so many Southerners actually are outraged to discover the Negro is, under the law, just as much a citizen as they.

The great need of our time is to see that no citizenship rights can be lessened and that to understand use of public, tax-maintained facilities is not communistic. It is no longer possible, whatever individual preferences, to declare such institutions barred to some and open to others.

100 Here Ask To Testify to Sibley Panel

By BRUCE GALPHIN

The school officials most directly involved in Georgia's impending integration crisis probably will be first witnesses at the Sibley committee hearing here Wednesday.

Sen. John Greer, who has been handling witness arrangements for the committee, said Tuesday a representative of the Atlanta Board of Education would be the first to testify.

The session, to open at 10 a.m. in the gymnasium of the Henry Grady High School, gives all indications of being the largest hearing conducted thus far.

Some 1,800 seats are being set up in the gym.

Greer reported that about 100 persons already have served notice they want to testify.

At the eight previous hearings the bulk of the witnesses have registered with the committee on the morning of the hearing.

The hearing here Wednesday is slated to measure sentiment in the Fifth Congressional District,

Vandiver's Soreness Minimized

Gov. Vandiver has been suffering some "soreness in the left chest," his doctors reported Tuesday.

But the soreness was described only as a "slight discomfort."

Electrocardigrams and other diagnostic tests, with the exception of a slight increase in blood pressure, remain normal, Dr. Franklin H. Goodwin and Dr. Carter Smith said.

They categorically denied published reports that the governor had suffered a heart attack during the night.

The governor has been in Piedmont Hospital since last Friday with a condition described as angina pectoris—a shortage of oxygen to the muscle tissues on one side of his heart.

The doctors have emphasized that Vandiver's condition is mild. It is believed the condition could have been brought on by the tensions of his office.

The governor Tuesday still was not receiving visitors. It has not yet been determined when he can leave the hospital.

DIES AT PARK
Swifty the Cheetah

All's Sad at Zoo: Swifty Is Dead

Grant Park's big cheetah cage stood silent and empty Tuesday night. "Swifty" had stalked his last mile behind the bars of captivity.

"He died late in the afternoon just when we thought he was going to get well," Parks Director George Simons said Tuesday night with a lump of sadness in his throat.

"Swifty" was Simons' favorite at the big Grant Park zoo.

"It was like losing a member of the family," Simons said. "We were real good pals."

The six-foot cheetah was the only one at the zoo. He was about nine years old. In fact it was Simons who gave "Swifty" his name when he joined the zoo in 1957.

"He took sick Sunday and the doctor looked him over," Simons said. "He was sluggish and seemed to be suffering from a stomach disorder."

The doctor checked "Swifty" again Monday and early Tuesday. He seemed to be improving. Then he died.

"The big cats are like that," Simons said. "They die right out. Maybe it's because they can't tell you what hurts them."

An autopsy will be held Wednesday to determine the cause of death.

50-Mile Gusts Lash City but Will Ease Today

The weatherman says you won't have to button up your overcoat so tightly Wednesday. He predicted fair and cooler and not so windy for Wednesday in Atlanta.

Thursday is expected to be fair and some warmer.

Gusts of wind that reached up to 50 miles an hour lashed Atlanta Tuesday. Extremes anticipated for Wednesday are 30 and 52, and 30 and 60 Thursday. Tuesday's extremes were 31 and 64.

METTER TRAGEDY

Fire Kills Invalid, Daughter

METTER, Ga (UPI)—A semi-invalid Presbyterian minister and his attractive 19-year-old daughter who tried to rescue him from their flame-swept home burned to death here Tuesday.

The victims were the Rev. Charles Chamberlain Schafe, 50, a native of Toronto, Canada, and Cecilia Schafe, a senior at Metter High School.

Schafe, bedridden for two years, was unable to flee the blaze. Cecilia died when she ran to her father's bedroom to help him out of the flaming home and apparently was overcome by the smoke and flames.

3 OTHERS ESCAPE

The minister's wife, Sara, and two sons, Charles, 15, and Jimmy, 10, fled the home. The sons were not injured but Mrs. Schafe was hospitalized with second degree burns about her chest, face and arms. She was reported in "fair" condition Tuesday afternoon.

Metter Police Chief Walter Emanuel, who is a son-in-law of the Schafes, said Mrs. Schafe told him the family had retired for the night when she heard Cecilia screaming. Mrs. Schafe ran to her sons' room and got them out of the house. Cecilia went to help her father.

FURNACE BLAMED

Emanuel said the fire apparently started from a defective floor furnace.

Taylor described Cecilia, an attractive blonde, as "one of the most likable young folks in town."

Schafe was formerly pastor of the Central Avenue Presbyterian Church in Athens and came here four years ago to become pastor of the Metter Presbyterian Church.

Cross Burned At Home of Schools Backer

SAVANNAH (AP)—A four-foot cross Tuesday night was burned on the lawn of an open schools advocate here.

The burning took place a half hour after weekly newspaper publisher Abram Eisenman made a half-hour radio speech in favor of some integration to avoid closing of public schools.

Negroes Ask to Drop Own Appeal

By JACK KAPLAN

In a surprise move Tuesday, NAACP attorneys asked Federal District Judge Frank A. Hooper to dismiss their appeal of his order which delayed a decision to implement the Atlanta school desegregation plan.

The appeal came on the heels of Judge Hooper's March 10 decision to wait until the Sibley committee had completed its hearings before handing down a final order. Hooper set a hearing for May 9, eight days after the committee report is due.

The new plea for dismissal came by mail from NAACP legal headquarters in New York City.

TO WAIT ON JUDGE

In a telephone interview Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, one of the plea's signers, said dismissal of the appeal was asked because the attorneys had decided to go along with Judge Hooper's May 9 hearing.

"We felt it would be better to go along with the hearing and see what the outcome was before going ahead with anything," she said.

Other attorneys signing the plea were Thurgood Marshal, the NAACP's chief legal counsel, and E. E. Moore Jr., Atlanta attorney.

NOT DOCKETED

The new plea, which was written in routine form, said:

"Plaintiffs have not taken any further steps to perfect their ap-

Films May Lead To Solution of Knife Slaying

4 Rolls, Missing Car Found

By KEELER McCARTNEY

Four rolls of color film may supply the clue needed to solve the bizarre knife slaying of a telephone company executive, police said Tuesday.

The four rolls of undeveloped film were found in the apartment of Wylie O. Gresham Jr., 36, at 301 Ardmore Cir., NW. Gresham was found dead Monday of two savagely inflicted stab wounds in the chest.

Gresham's 1960 model station wagon was found Tuesday parked on Simpson street, NW, near the Northeast Expressway—five miles from the death scene. The ignition keys were missing.

SUICIDE VIRTUALLY OUT

Discovery of the station wagon plus the full medical examination report virtually eliminated the possibility of suicide, Detective Superintendent Glyn Cowan said. At first it was believed Gresham might have placed the station wagon in a garage for repairs.

A dent in the left rear fender of the station wagon indicated it could have been involved in a minor accident, Cowan related. He said investigators had not been able to determine whether the dent was there before the slaying.

The medical report indicated the two stab wounds in the chest were delivered savagely. Cowan said he was told the first wound sliced a rib and left a wound that was serious enough to cause death.

HEART PIERCED

The second stab wound pierced the heart, he said.

Cowan said the color film was turned over to a commercial studio for processing because the police department does not have facilities for such work. He expressed hope that somewhere in the film police will find a clue to the identity of the possible murderer.

The case was fast assuming some of the complexities of knotty murder cases which have defied solution.

For instance, what secret was locked in a miniature chest which someone went to a lot of trouble

Voting Referees Approved by House

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The House Tuesday approved the administration's voting referee proposal designed to assist Negro voting in certain areas of the South.

Adoption of this amendment by a vote of 192 to 112 cleared the way for final House action Wednesday on a five-point civil rights bill.

The measure would authorize federal judges to appoint voting referees to assist Negro registration and voting.

This would be done whenever and wherever a federal judge found there was a pattern of discrimination against Negroes at the ballot box.

It is the key of the Eisenhower administration's civil rights program, and House approval of it probably marked the beginning of the end of the long civil rights fight in Congress, although there

Site Dispute Delays Cobb's Tech Branch

By MARION GAINES

The contract for development of Southern Tech's $2,000,000 campus at Marietta has been held up pending the outcome of a plan to erect a Negro housing project adjacent to the proposed school site in Cobb County, Georgia Tech officials said Tuesday night.

Tech officials, admittedly "disturbed" about the possible development of a privately owned Negro housing project next door to the proposed campus at Marietta, are expected to confer Wednesday with Marietta city officials and the Marietta-Cobb County Chamber of Commerce.

The State Board of Regents over a year ago approved preliminary plans for Southern Tech to move from Chamblee to a $2,000,000 facility to be erected on a 120-acre site in Cobb County.

Marietta City Councilman Guy Powell said Tuesday night the council has been asked to approve a request by Merritt and Walker, a Marietta engineering firm, to

Housing Pattern Will Limit Integration, Dr. Clement Says

The president of Atlanta University said Tuesday night the "housing pattern" would serve to prevent "a great deal of integration" even if a desegregated public school system went into operation here.

Dr. Rufus E. Clement, who also is the only Negro member of the city Board of Education, appeared on Reporter's Notebook on WAGA-TV. Negro leaders said it was the first time a Negro has appeared on a television program of that type here.

Clement indicated he feels at least two conditions should prevail regarding assignment of pupils to schools:

(1) Children should attend the nearest school—"if it's a good school."

(2) Some "special programs" which are "given at some schools but not at others" should be made available to all interested students.

In response to newsmen's questions put to him during the panel-type interview, Dr. Clement said "legal segregation" is viewed by the "average Negro" as being "not only unconstitutional but immoral."

He said the Negro doesn't expect to be accepted as a "social equal" or as "a bosom friend" but to be evaluated as "an individual."

The Negro community here, he said, has been "much heartened . . . at the willingness of people high in Atlanta to sit down and talk" about segregation problems.

Regarding the recent sitdown demonstration by Negro college students at eating establishments here, Dr. Clement said the Atlanta University "faculty and administration have not attempted to run any of this."

He said he had advised the Negro students only on "two things: Be sure every action is (1) legal and (2) non-violent."

Dr. Clement said one of the Negro's chief hopes is this: "That

Africans Set Fires, Stone Firemen

New Riots Erupt At Cape Town

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Negro rioting against South Africa's white supremacy laws erupted again Tuesday. Negroes burned buildings near Cape Town, then stoned firemen who fought the blazes. Police fired on the mobs for the second day in a row.

New casualty figures were coming in, but there was no firm estimate of how far they would rise above Monday's toll of at least 66 dead. This is a police figure admittedly incomplete.

There were also several hundred injured.

WHITES SPARED

None of the reports mentioned any whites killed in the outbreaks that erupted during what had been planned as a nonviolent protest against the passes Negroes must carry day and night.

Thousands of police enforced an uneasy truce on the Negro quarter of Sharpeville in the coal mining district south of Johannesburg. Sharpeville was the scene of Monday's major riot where at least 50 Negroes died.

The new outbreaks centered around the black settlement of Langa, outside Cape Town, where at least six Negroes were killed Monday.

POLICE AMBUSHED

Resentful Africans hid in the bush around their villages. One police patrol near Langa was ambushed by a number of Negroes. A police sergeant opened fire and wounded one of the attackers.

The police violence brought an extraordinary denunciation from Washington. The State Department said the United States "cannot help but regret the tragic loss of life resulting from the measures taken against the demonstrators in South Africa."

During the night, Negroes in Langa set fire to at least eight buildings including churches, the library, a recreation hall, a reception center, an office building and Negro settlement workshops. Street lights were smashed.

SEARCHLIGHTS BEAM

The battle between the police and the mobs was waged by the light of the fires and the piercing beams of searchlights.

The rioters first stoned the firemen, who retreated and returned later under police escort to continue fighting the blazes.

Reports of rioting also came from Nyanga West, another Negro settlement near Cape Town. Police fired on Africans who tried to set fire to an electrical department building, the reports said.

What's This? No More KP? Civilians May Do the Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army and the Air Force are beginning to relieve their enlisted men of long-detested KP duty.

Commanders are now authorized to hire civilians as mess attendants—if the commanders find they have enough money in their annual budget allotments.

The Navy and Marine Corps said Tuesday they have no intention at this time of abandoning mess duty for their men.

The Army, under regulations issued last December, told commanders they could either hire civilians directly or let out contracts for mess attendant service. However, the Army and the Air Force will continue to use enlisted men as expert cooks and bakers.

The Air Force, within the past few days, started authorizing contracts for mess attendant service.

Cuba Ready to Try Captured U.S. Fliers

HAVANA (UPI)—The semi-official newspaper Revolucion said Tuesday the two Americans captured when their plane was shot down Monday would be tried by a revolutionary tribunal with the Cubans they were trying to rescue.

It did not specify whether the trials of the two Americans and four Cubans would be before a civilian or military court. A military court could inflict the death penalty. But Premier Castro said recently anyone flying in to burn Cuban canefields were subject to military justice.

Cuban authorities said the two Americans, Harold (Swede) Rundquist, 33, of Miami, Fla., and his co-pilot, W. J. Shergales, of Hollywood, Fla., had charts in their light plane showing the location of recently burned sugar cane fields and that their plane was the same color and type aircraft carrying out such acts.

Shergales was held in Havana headquarters of the Department of Investigation of the Army, a branch of the secret service. Rundquist, suffering from bullet wounds in his leg and foot, was to be brought here later.

Army Commander Gen. Juan Almeida said in a press announcement Thursday Shergales was captured "while trying to land for the purpose of taking out of the country a fugitive from revolutionary justice, ex-commandant of the Police Damaso Montesino Alvarez and other persons."

Almeida indicated that only two of the four Cubans arrested Monday were attempting to leave the country since the plane, a Piper Comanche, is a four-seater.

Fires on seven sugar plantations in Matanzas Province burned 50,000 tons of cane Monday.

Summit A Gamble, Says Herter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Herter conceded Tuesday the summit meeting is a gamble and said he is not optimistic it will yield much progress toward settling East-West disputes.

But in this era of pushbutton weapons "there are too many chances for miscalculation, of misunderstanding, to risk taking the position that we will not sit down and talk with anybody," Herter told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Discussion of the coming summit meeting overshadowed Herter's main reason for appearing —to urge approval of President Eisenhower's $4,175,000,000 foreign aid program.

Under sharp questioning by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), Herter said Eisenhower is going without a formal agenda to the May 16 meeting in Paris with Soviet Premier Khrushchev and British and French leaders.

Gore told Herter he was deeply disturbed that the United States is going to the summit "without purpose, without plan, without hope of success."

"It's a gamble," Herter acknowledged.

"You are gambling with high stakes and it seems to me in a rather reckless manner."

Herter said he was "very frank to admit I'm not too optimistic that the summit will produce very great results."

Russia Accepts Atom Controls, Lets West Decide on First Step

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin said Tuesday, without spelling out details, that his government will accept international controls over nuclear disarmament.

Zorin suggested to the 10-nation disarmament conference that nuclear disarmament could come either early or late in a phased program for complete abolition of weapons of warfare.

Interest was aroused in the Western delegations by the unexpected flexibility the Soviet Union appears to be following in its approach to the nuclear prolem.

Western delegation sources offered various theories as to why Zorin was following this tack. The most generally accepted one was that Zorin was trying to get his government's program for total disarmament within four years accepted as the basis for negotiations rather than the three-stage Western plan which mentions no time limit.

It was also suggested that the Kremlin now might be so confident of its strength that it felt it was immaterial whether conventional or nuclear cutbacks came first.

The five Western powers — the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada—would find it difficult to make radical shifts in their own program. The briefs of their delegations are closely tied to expert military advice.

There is a difference of approach, however, in the Western camp. It was spotlighted in a speech by French Delegate Jules Moch.

Moch said France believes that something more comprehensive than a suspension of atomic and hydrogen weapon tests is needed to open the road to nuclear disarmament.

Moch's definition came at a time when the Americans, British and Soviets are more deeply involved than ever in their 17-month-old effort in a separate Geneva conference to negotiate a nuclear test ban treaty.

France, not represented in the test ban talks, has emphasized that it will not regard itself bound by any treaty resulting from those negotiations. France is now an atomic power, having exploded its own atomic device on Feb. 13.

Moch said the suspension of tests should be closely linked with what he defined as three other controllable features of a nuclear disarmament system.

In the view of his government the suspension of tests should be accompanied by a ban on the further production of fissionable materials for military purposes, a ban on the manufacture of weapons incorporating such materials and the conversion of existing nuclear stockpiles to peaceful uses.

Reds Smile Goodwill For France

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union exuded an atmosphere of serene, peaceful goodwill Tuesday night on the eve of Premier Khrushchev's departure for his state visit to Paris.

There was a chorus of Soviet-French friendship and newspapers were filled with "waiting for N.S. Khrushchev" stories from the French capital. There were Soviet-French broadcasts and rallies.

The Russian people generally were glad their Nikita Sergeyevitch was undertaking another peace mission, but major diplomatic comment in Moscow revolved around speculation that sparks would fly when the strong-willed Khrushchev and equally strong De Gaulle meet.

Diplomats also believed Khrushchev might seek to encourage the French President's independent, lone wolf tendencies which have caused problems for the Western alliance.

But none of this was on the surface. Russians from ballerinas to factory foremen said they hoped the trip would relax international tension and bring peace.

The trade union newspaper Trud reported from Paris that Parisians greatly resembled Muscovites since "they always seem to be in a hurry."

Mme. Nina Khrushchev, who will accompany her husband, was reported to be placing high importance on a non-political side of the 11-day tour of France. A Kremlin source said she had several new costumes made because "she knows how French women are interested in fashion and she feels they will closely inspect her clothes."

Urban Renewal Is Permanent Problem

If the remaining snags can be overcome—including finding a location for the 350-unit public housing project formerly scheduled for the Egleston Hospital site—Atlanta soon will have five urban renewal projects under way.

Plans for the last two have been presented to the Board of Aldermen and will be aired at a public hearing on April 1. Net costs of the projects are estimated at $26,615,000, of which the federal government will pay two-thirds. Except for rehousing of displaced families in public projects, the cleared areas will be available to private interests for redevelopment.

It is impossible to estimate the future net gains which will accrue to the city as a result of redevelopment. These five areas alone will give the economy and our government tax base a terrific boost. But these five projects are just the beginning of what must be a permanent program to clear out and prevent blight.

As Ald. Hamilton Douglas, chairman of the urban renewal committee of the board, reminds us, we must begin planning additional projects now. Procrastination would be costly. But if Atlanta's experience follows that of other cities and her own experience with expressways, initial projects will generate such enthusiasm that we cannot rebuild fast enough.

As Atlanta grows the problem of blight will be constant. Neglecting it will bring an acceleration of results all too apparent. More people will move to the suburbs; tax income will go down while services become more costly; utilities will be neglected; slums will increase; property values will deteriorate and traffic congestion will grow worse—not to mention the social evils.

It is good that the urban renewal program finally is getting under way despite all the roadblocks. But completion of these five projects will not be the end, only the beginning.

Here's Another Way Klan-Minded Operate

Some Atlanta mothers have expressed righteous indignation at the offensive circulars distributed by the Klan-minded in the Atlanta area.

Their daughters are offended by the subject matter.

The hate-spewers are, as to be expected, following a pattern.

A short time ago literature bearing the imprint of the Ku Klux Klan was handed out twice within a week at Columbus high schools.

The first incident was at Jordan High School where the principal ordered two unidentified young men off the property after finding they were distributing such reading matter.

Baker High School was the next target. Venom-laden material was dropped from a passing car.

Thus further insight is provided into the depths to which the Klan-minded sink.

Violence, threats, silly costumes and foolish marching into selected communities are not enough to satisfy their warped egos.

So now they resort to attempts to prey upon the minds of students whom America must depend upon in the future for its progress and even its preservation.

Mass Transit Facilities Are Only Solution Here

Within the next few days preliminary steps will be taken toward easing some of Metropolitan Atlanta's traffic headaches.

The State Highway Dept. plans to let contracts around March 25 for initial work on the Airport access road and for another project on the circumferential highway.

In addition, before April 1 the department expects a new study to be under way to explore the area's traffic needs 20 years from now.

Rather than being confined to motor travel alone, it will deal with mass transit including the possibility of subway or some other form of rapid transit.

Past experience has shown that expressways have become outmoded about as soon as they were completed. Nor are appropriate measures being taken to get the maximum use from existing freeways. For instance, a single minor accident can tie up traffic for miles. There should be a quicker way of unsnarling the tangle than that now employed.

As for mass transit, the Metropolitan Planning Commission's findings made public sometime ago bear out the wisdom of having the state's new study go beyond the realm of expressways designed primarily for auto travel.

Assuming that there would be normal local bus service only and no separate rapid transit system, the commission predicted that only 10 years from now 120 radial lanes will be needed on the immediate edge of the central area plus 28 lanes in the downtown connector phase.

This, of course, would be a physical and financial impossibility.

The Metropolitan Planning Commission concludes that an auto-dominant expressway system will never be able to carry radial loads adequately during rush hours, even with maximum use of buses. Transit innovations, such as exclusive right-of-way rapid transit, will be absolutely essential.

Such findings serve to emphasize the importance of the new study and the role that rapid transit eventually must fill in the movement of people in and out of downtown Atlanta.

With traffic strangulation virtually upon us, time is running out for planning and activation of feasible methods of coping with the situation.

STAR Award Winners Rate Star Recognition

Atlanta and Fulton County salute the winners of this year's local STAR student and teacher awards. Appropriate recognition was given these and individual school winners at yesterday's meeting of the Atlanta Kiwanis Club.

They will compete with winners of DeKalb and Rockdale counties for the Fifth District award and then with other district winners from throughout Georgia for the state title. But the fact of winning in their own schools and in the county competition is a fine tribute to student and teacher achievement and we commend each of them.

This statewide activity sponsored by the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce is a splendid success. It encourages scholarship achievement by students and gives recognition to outstanding teachers. Certainly both aims deserve full support by businessmen and state leadership in general.

Winners this year in Atlanta and Fulton County are senior students John B. Pendergrast Jr. of Westminster School and Albert C. Ruehmann of College Park High School. They made the highest scores on the College Board scholastic aptitude test for seniors. Their STAR teachers were Donn M. Gaebelein of Westminster and Mrs. John Bogle of College Park.

To these and other STARS throughout the state we extend heartiest congratulations.

Teamsters Stayed Home While Hoffa Droned On

James Riddle Hoffa got his comeuppance a few nights ago and it is difficult indeed to imagine a more fitting subject to be so treated.

The occasion was a muchly ballyhooed Teamsters rally at Madison Square Garden. There his name was up in lights as the feature attraction.

There are about 196,000 Teamsters in the New York Metropolitan area. Yet only some 8,000 members and their families showed up to hear their boss outline strategy to circumvent phases of the Landrum-Griffin law and to expand his empire.

There were as many empty seats as there were occupied ones.

While it may be wishful thinking, we hope this is at least a straw in the wind as to how Hoffa rates with those who are in position to know him best.

Old Pros of Baseball Display Their Mettle

It warms the heart to note how some of the old pros are showing up the young fry, mostly composed of bonus boys, in baseball's spring training.

The other day, for instance, 39-year-old Warren Spahn turned in a magnificent victory over the world champions, the Los Angeles Dodgers, whose vast quantity of players enables them to draw upon veterans and rookies alike.

Stan Musial, 39, was considered all but washed up after what for him was an extremely dismal performance last year. But he cut loose Monday with a home run and double to drive in three runs in St. Louis' rout of Cincinnati.

Hank Bauer, 37, whom the Yankees shuffled off to Kansas City last winter, drove in seven runs with five hits as his new team lashed his former club.

It is inevitable and right that these stars eventually will be replaced by younger talent. But it's thrilling to see how the elders of baseball, drawing on sheer determination and their long years of experience, not only are sticking in there but outdoing their youthful rivals.

More power to them.

The Case for Local Option

Pulse of the Public

Administration Policy of Fixing Ceilings On Prices Termed Injustice to Consumers

Atlanta—The past policy of the administration of putting a ceiling on prices, such as cotton, sugar, etc., has worked a gross injustice against the American public, the ultimate consumer. For example, we pay Cuba two cents a pound more for sugar so as to protect our own sugar industry but wouldn't we be better off if we bought at the world's market price and subsidized the farmer for this two cents? It would be identically the same, except we wouldn't be paying the two cents to the Cuban government and at the same time the consumer would get the benefit.

The same thing happens with cotton. We pay considerably above the world market price and the result is we more or less price ourselves out of the foreign markets and we encourage the foreigner to ship cotton here, although, of course, when we ship cotton goods out we get a benefit of a refund of possibly eight cents a pound. But here again it doesn't give the manufacturer a fair opportunity to figure his cost based upon cost of material, etc.

The Brannan Plan, which was advocated sometime ago in the Truman administration, was the only true basis upon which we could meet this competition. As it is now, we have enabled any number of products to take advantage of cotton as well as other commodities.

The government has a right to make a mistake but once discovered the mistake should be corrected. ARMAND MAY.

Closed School Stand Blamed on Ignorance

Wrightsville — There are but two things I can say regarding the school issue:

1. The fact that so many people in Georgia are ignorant enough to be willing to see the schools closed is in itself the greatest argument that can be given for keeping them open. People this ignorant need all the schools they can get.

2. All things considered, anybody who is willing to close our children's schools is either a moron, a fool, a politician or all three. EXASPERATED.

Tax Structure Hit As Unfair to Many

Atlanta—One of the most glaring injustices in the present internal revenue system of the U.S. is the $600 deduction for "children" in school. They may earn $600 per year and still be considered their parents' dependents on the parents' income tax report, whereas widows and other small wage earners are penalized $600 for their own exemption.

I wish the pinheads, in this time of ridiculously high prices and inflation, could tell me how I can even provide myself with food, let alone rent, clothing, etc., on $50 per month. I assure them, not being a spendthrift, I would be greatly interested. Such a thing simply cannot be done. The income tax exemption should be at least $1,000 per year for single people and any "child" bringing in $600 to the parents exchequer should have to either report it or add it to the parents' tax report. The whole tax setup is unfair to the smaller wage earner and single people.

Texas Drivers Watch Points

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. — A new safe-driving law is hitting Texas where it hurts. A friend in Dallas is one who has been hurt. His insurance man called, "I hate to tell you but your auto premium will be doubled this year." "But why?" my friend protested, "I have had no wreck."

"No, but your son did," said the agent. "He's charged with moving violations. Under the point system your rate has jumped." The friend remembered—in learning to drive the lad had overrun some stop signs and been caught in the middle of the intersection.

Another man party to our conversation said, "I've become a six-point man thanks to a driving error by my wife. It's going to cost me $18 this year. I told her she can pay it."

The Texas law charges points for "moving violations." The safety department notifies the insurance people. More points, more premiums.

Texans chafe under the collar but they are becoming traffic-code-conscious.

Sibley Hearings Show State Divided on School Issue

In the Calhoun Times

It is apparent from the hearings now in progress before the Sibley Committee in the several congressional districts in the state that there is a wide division of sentiment on the major school problem now confronting the people; free public schools, no public schools or local option.

It is impossible accurately to gauge public sentiment on the basis of those speaking before the Sibley Committee. Many of these have presented themselves as spokesmen for large groups such as chambers of commerce, PTAs, grand juries, county commissions, city councils, ministerial associations and various civic organizations. At best they are spokesmen only for a majority of the membership of such groups — and in such cases the minorities have had no voice.

Apparently there is a growing sentiment among state leaders in support of a statewide secret ballot to determine just which of the three suggested alternatives facing the people is acceptable to the largest number.

There are indications that some people still are misled and are laboring under the delusion that it is possible to have legally segregated public schools. If so, it is time they realized that the only segregated public schools now possible are those segregated by mutual consent of the races. Perhaps an overwhelming majority of them could still be run on this basis. For how long they could be so run would depend, perhaps, upon whether or not the same quality of education was provided for both races.

Under local option, where each district could decide for itself whether it would close its school, try to work out a mutual agreement for voluntary segregation or accept some integration under limitations provided by a pupil placement plan, our schools would perhaps sustain the least amount of shock from the change within the next few months.

DeKalb Supt. Jim Cherry has emphasized one point in the segregation controversy that has escaped attention in the public discussion and perhaps has received but little attention from the public generally. He makes the point that locking up the schoolhouses would not end the segregation fight. He calls attention to the fact that the lines are just being drawn for a continuing fight for integrated jobs, housing, hospitals, theatres, restaurants, lunch counters, etc. His point is that it would be foolish to wreck our whole system of public education to win a battle only to find that we had merely won a skirmish in a never-ending war, at a price we couldn't afford to pay.

The hearings before the Sibley Committee have done more than anything that has happened to inspire realistic consideration of the school problem.

Butler's Partiality Damages Kennedy

WASHINGTON—The only politician around who can put both feet into other men's mouths, Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler, is doing far more harm than good to his favorite for the presidential nomination, Sen. Kennedy. Indeed, the biggest single potential check to the rolling Kennedy bandwagon is Paul Butler and his excessive partiality toward the young Massachusetts senator.

It is Butler's future significance —not his past—that is really important here.

His ill-concealed violation of all semblance of a proper neutrality in pushing Kennedy over the rest of the Democratic aspirants was always bad form. It is now also bad news to Kennedy himself. For Kennedy's greatest strength as a candidate has lain in the fact that no large party faction—including the South—has up to now really wished him ill.

Worse yet, Kennedy needs Butler's overly-eager "backing" about as much as a successful field general whose troops are moving forward on all fronts needs a psychological warfare "expert" to show him how to do it.

He has, of course, stirred all the other Democratic presidential hopefuls. But far more damaging, Butler has now managed to give the Republicans the opportunity they wanted to try to alienate Kennedy's very considerable Southern and other conservative party support.

Kennedy's whole stance has been that of a reasonably and calmly liberal politician who nevertheless had no wish to read the conservatives out of the party or to promote any kind of party division. Butler's whole course as national chairman has been to present himself as a good, very liberal guy constantly attacked by bad, old-fashioned "politicians" who didn't want the party to be "forward-looking." His clear and constant purpose has been to open a North-South civil war within the Democratic Party.

But Butler's definition of what is "forward-looking" is distinctly not the Kennedy definition. And now Butler has contrived to associate Kennedy, for campaign argument purposes, with the rather frantic and unimportant splinter wing for which Butler himself speaks.

The GOP has naturally leaped with joy at this chance to picture Kennedy as a kind of rich man's Paul Butler. It does not follow that this tactic will wholly succeed. At best, however, it will surely do Kennedy no good.

Finally, there is the delicate but absolutely vital point that Butler in any event is the very last man to be trying to identify himself so intimately with Kennedy.

Why? Because Kennedy is a Catholic and is doing his best to keep religion out of the argument. But Butler, too, is a Catholic. And whenever and wherever he lays himself open to charges of improper use of his party office for another Catholic he is inescapably piling up ammunition for those who wish to make religion at least a sub-surface issue.

Minimum Faith Is Frail Foundation

Sometime ago one of my parishioners asked me to preach on the subject, "The Minimum Requirements of Christianity." The topic seemed appealing to me and I said I would think about the suggestion and use it soon. But the more I thought about the subject the more convinced I became that I really could not preach the gospel under such a title.

Minimum requirements is a phrase that somehow implies that there are a few basic rules a person must obey if he would be a Christian or a handful of doctrines which he would be obligated to accept. Our Lord did not talk about minimum requirements. He spoke of maximum possibilities.

Through the centuries certain of Jesus' teachings have always seemed especially important and some of the things He taught are accepted by all who would be called by His name. Some articles of faith seem to be implicit in the word, Christian. But no church, as far as I know, says to a prospective member that he should say yes to a specified number of questions if he would become a Christian. The catechism is not the goal of faith. It is merely the initiate's manual by which he begins a spiritual journey that leads always to greater experiences.

Obedience to the laws of the land won't make a good citizen. Citizenship requires also a certain attitude of the heart and mind, a constructive good will and a readiness to give more than the minimum requirements of the law. So it is with faith.

In the Sermon on the Mount our Lord said that His followers must go beyond mere obedience to laws and regulations. He asked, "What more are you doing than others?" I think He meant that His disciples were to move beyond rules and doctrines and into a venturesome life of an ever-growing faith.

So more than minimum requirements I like the idea of maximum possibilities. Jesus said that His followers were to be perfect as God is perfect. Nothing short of the complete goodness of our heavenly Father should satisfy us. None, I think, is capable of such perfection. But imperfect as we are, Christ stimulates us to accomplish in His name as much as our mortal natures make possible.

Each of us may increase the depth and meaning of our devotional lives. All of us should earnestly strive to improve our Christian behavior. We all fall short of the fuller possibilities of Christian living in our homes, our communities and our nation. Even those who committed themselves to Christ in their childhood have yet to realize many of the radiant possibilities which faith makes possible.

FCC Should Add Art Commissioner

WASHINGTON—Now that the Eisenhower administration has named such an able man as Frederick W. Ford to be chairman of the too long enfeebled Federal Communications Commission, the White House will certainly want to make a superior appointment to fill the place left vacant by the resignation of John C. Doerfer.

It is evident that what the commission now needs most of all is at least one member who has had experience in the arts and-or education and who has a manifest concern over the content of television and radio — not just in the mechanics of the industry and the legalities of licensing.

Let anyone tell you who wants to that this means government censorship. But you don't have to believe him. Bear in mind that television-radio has to be a licensed industry because the airwaves are public property and are limited in number.

What the FCC needs is at least one commissioner with special fitness and interest in seeing that the stations and the networks live up to their public-service commitments.

Put it this way: If for some reason there could be only four legitimate theaters and their use, therefore, had to be licensed in the public interest, you would not want the commission made up entirely of real estate men. You would want at least one commissioner who had theater experience.

It seems to me that the current vacancy on the FCC could usefully be filled by someone who has qualifications to consider what happens on television and radio after the licenses have been granted.

The appointee, I think, should be drawn from the arts or at least be sensitive to and interested in the arts and education. Such candidates as the following suggest themselves: Brooks Atkinson, the retired drama critic of the New York Times; Clare Boothe Luce, author, playwright and former ambassador to Italy; Frederick Coe, television's most distinguished producer; Hubbell Robinson, originator of "Playhouse 90" and "The Lively Arts" programs.

I am not urging the appointment of any of these people. I cite them to show the kind of commissioner who would add the competence and balance the FCC so acutely needs.

How acutely needed is suggested by this report from John Crosby, the New York Herald Tribune television critic:

"The imbalance of the program structure is getting worse rather than better and next fall there are going to be far fewer specials which gave some respite to the cowboys and the gangsters. It'll be a crying bloody shame if the great quiz and payola scandal is allowed simply to die down, leaving the general program schedule . . . where it is now."

State's Democrats To Confer on Butler

By JACK NELSON

Whether Georgia will get poor accommodations at the Democratic National Convention at Los Angeles may be determined—at least partially—at a meeting the State Democratic Executive Committee plans to hold in Atlanta soon.

Committee Chairman James H. Gray of Albany said the meeting, at which convention delegates will be named, was scheduled for this week, but was postponed because of the illness of Gov. Vandiver. He said he now hopes it will be held within two weeks, "depending entirely on the governor's physical condition."

When the committee does meet it plans to take up the question of financial aid to the national Democratic party. Georgia Democrats owe a quota of about $27,000, but have been reluctant to pay it.

The national committee Wednesday released the state-by-state contributions received through Feb. 29. It showed that Southern states—with the exception of North Carolina, Virginia and Arkansas—are still flirting with back row seats and less-than-prime accommodations at the national convention.

Most of the Southern states are still near or at the bottom of the list.

With the list was another warning by National Chairman Paul M. Butler that "every consideration will be given to the housing and seating requests of the delegates from those states having a record of good financial support of the national committee."

The list showed that Georgia ranked 45th in the nation in turning in its quota.

Gray said the state committee will debate the question of financial aid before taking any action on it.

"We have not yet determined whether we are going to pay," Gray said. "There are a number of considerations as to why we should and a number as to why we shouldn't." He declined to specify the considerations.

He said Georgia Democrats are well aware that their contributions will "determine in part" whether they get good convention accommodations.

John E. Grayburn, Buckhead Elks' exalted ruler, said the selectees are Miss Leslie Morrison, 1022 Northcliffe Dr., NW, and Edward Boardman, 1966 Brookview Dr., NW.

They will receive $100 cash scholarships at a ceremony Friday night at the Elks lodge. Miss Rita Berrong, the students' counselor, also will be honored.

Life Threatened, Says Negro Segregationist

A Negro minister who said his life was in danger as result of his stand against integration in any form appealed Tuesday for police protection for himself and his family.

The Rev. Early James Mattox, pastor of the Holy Cross Church, Inc., said that during the three weeks since the restaurant sit-down protests had begun he has been threatened and his home and church have been stoned at all hours of the night.

Lt. Clinton Chafin of the detective vice squad said a sufficient number of men would be assigned to the case to eliminate the trouble.

The Rev. Mr. Mattox, 28, a veteran of the Korean War, said he was against any mixing of the races in school or elsewhere at this time and had preached vigorously against it.

"Every member of my congregation feels as I do," he said.

The minister said he had 631 members in the church at 479 North Ave., NW; 800 in another church at Elberton and 127 members for a church under construction in Douglas County.

Detectives said the minister told them he believes the Negro race eventually will be prepared to demand the rights they are asking now, but added they must await the proper time.

The minister said he had found threatening notes pinned to the door of his church and his home at 484 Windsor St., SW; that he had received one threatening letter through the mail.

"One note asked me 'Are you tired of living?'" he said.

In addition, he said missiles have been flung against the church, smashing windows, and rocks have been thrown against his home. He said a fence at the church has been torn down and the windows have been shot out of his automobile.

County Unit Court Test This Year Is Forecast

SAVANNAH (AP)—Rep. Frank S. Cheatham Jr. said here "there is a strong possibility" that a federal court test of Georgia's county unit system and apportionment systems may be made this year.

Cheatham, speaking before the Savannah Business and Professional Women's Club, said the court test would be made in Atlanta.

Mayor Hartsfield of Atlanta has made an unsuccessful court test of the county unit system.

The senior member of the Chatham legislative delegation stated that the U.S. Supreme Court might destroy the county unit system.

Cheatham said court action might have been averted if the legislature at its last session had approved a resolution to set up a study commission on apportionment.

He deplored the present apportionment system, asserting the eight largest counties comprising 40 per cent of the state's population could muster only 24 votes of the needed 103 to pass any measure in the House.

Cheatham said their votes could be offset by the 24 smallest counties, which contain only 4 per cent of the population.

Corvair named "CAR OF THE YEAR"

"Four-wheel independent suspension totally unlike any other U.S.-built car"..."air-cooled aluminum engine . . . not dependent on the properties of a liquid coolant"... a rear-mounted transaxle "allowing a flatter floor and lower roofline. . . ." These are some of the praises heaped upon Corvair by the editors of Motor Trend—the world's largest general automotive magazine—in announcing their coveted Car-of-the-Year award. Other cars didn't even come close. The Motor Trend experts, who evaluated every make in the country, were unanimous in their decision, published in the April issue. But, unless you have personally driven a Corvair, you can't appreciate what this engineering achievement really means in combining compact car economy and agility with big car ride, room and sure-footedness. to open? Detectives W. K. Perry and C. J. Strickland said they found several tacks removed in an effort to open the chest. Failing in that method, the person bent a knife blade to break the lock.

A paring knife found beside the body yielded no fingerprints. Detectives said several prints, those of Gresham and others as yet unidentified were found on various parts of the station wagon.

The death scene itself presented a jumble of confusion.

Gresham lay on his back in bed, clad only in shorts. His left hand was partially over his face. A pillow had been pressed down on his face, a bedspread pulled over the pillow and another pillow placed on top of that.

His trousers containing an empty wallet were found on the floor in the corner of the living room. His shoes, the laces tied, were nearby. A long-sleeved sports shirt, rolled up, was found in a chair.

A picture of the family home at Waynesboro, which normally hung on the wall, was on the bed, propped against Gresham's right foot. A towel, the corner stained with blood, was draped across the bed.

Traces of blood could be found in a sink, where someone evidently had washed his hands. Gresham's undershirt, tinged with blood, was found near the bed.

The high-headboard, antique type bed was splashed with blood as were the walls nearby.

Graveside services for Mr. Gresham will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Magnolia Cemetery, Waynesboro. The Rev. Albert V. Oftenbrow Jr. and the Rev. Leland Moore will officiate.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. DeForrest M. Gresham, Waynesboro.

Miss Jarrell Given $1,500 And Plaque

Miss Ira Jarrell received $1,500 and a plaque Tuesday from Atlanta's Negro school teachers as a tribute to her as superintendent of the city's schools.

Miss Jarrell will retire July 1.

The presentation was made at Washington High School by the Gate City Teachers Assn. Tuesday's ceremonies kicked off a series of parties which will be given the outgoing school superintendent.

The plaque was engraved:

"Dr. Ira Jarrell, superintendent of Atlanta Public Schools, for distinctive service in education. Gate City Teacher's Association, March 22, 1960.

"I am exceedingly appreciative," Miss Jarrell said. "The tribute and the gifts were beyond any expected call of duty and that makes them even more esteemed."

Racial Bars Injure U.S., Hannah Says

By TED LIPPMAN
Constitution Staff Writer

GATLINBURG, Tenn.—The U.S. Civil Rights Commission is "more convinced now than in the beginning" that infringement on civil rights should concern all Americans, the commission chairman said here Tuesday.

Dr. John A. Hannah told school officials from border and Southern states that denial of equal protection of the law in the United States has created a handicap for this country in other parts of the world.

He said Russia has been making widespread propaganda use of civil rights denials as reported in the American press.

The handicap can be overcome, Hannah said, if "thinking people" will realize that it is important to all Americans, not just members of minority groups.

He said denial of voting rights can be stopped by legislation. He said racial discrimination in housing and public education will be overcome more slowly and by non-legislative means. He said the best solution in each community—in Northern and Southern states—will be the one that is worked out at the community level.

Hannah made these statements in remarks concluding a two-day conference on "Problems of Schools in Transition From the Educator's Viewpoint." He thanked the educators who participated in the conference and told them that explaining their experiences would help communities solve similar problems in the future.

Also participating in Tuesday's session were T. Wilson Cahall, assistant to the school superintendent in Washington County, Md.; Williant Henry Oliver, school superintendent at Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. Aaron Brown, educational project director for the Phelps-Stokes Fund, and Dr. Daniel Schreiber of the New York City Department of Education.

Dr. Brown, former administrator at Albany State College and Ft. Valley State College, called for more adult educational facilities, particularly for Negro parents of school-age children in the South.

Oliver said Nashville's grade-a-year desegration was easier this year than last.

Dr. Whittier said desegregation had had no bad effects on scholastic standards. He said some Negro students chose to stay in all-Negro schools because they didn't want to be "overshadowed by large numbers of whites" and because they were not capable of competing with the white students academically.

Cahall discussed educational television as a means of "bridging the gap" for Negroes who found themselves inadequately prepared for the higher standards of integrated schools (as compared to formerly all-Negro ones).

He said his system was currently making full use of closed-circuit television for classroom teaching.

Dixie Loses In House on Referees

will be a further Southern fight against it in the Senate.

Although defeated on the voting referee proposal, Southern congressmen scored three important victories in a busy day of civil rights debate.

One of these Dixie triumphs came on a 173 to 86 vote weakening a section of the Eisenhower administration's civil rights bill dealing with the education of children of servicemen.

The other two southern successes were on points of order against two strengthening amendments offered by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY).

Celler attempted to tack an anti-poll tax amendment onto the bill, but Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va) objected that it was not germane, and the Virginian's point of order was sustained by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa), who was presiding.

Then Celler attempted to introduce a "title three" amendment empowering the attorney general to initiate lawsuits to enforce all kinds of civil rights, including the right to attend a non-segregated school.

Rep. Edwin E. Willis (D-La) raised a point of order on this one and he, too, was sustained by Chairman Walter with a ruling the amendment was not germane.

This "title three" proposal, stricken from the 1957 civil rights bill but revived by Northern civil rights advocates, already has been turned down in the Senate. It was aimed toward abolishing practically every vestige of racial segregation in the South.

However, the Senate on two occasions now has clearly indicated it is not ready to go that far in civil rights legislation.

Before quitting work for the day the House took up an amendment by Rep. J. Carlton Loser (D-Tenn) to an anti-bombing section of the civil rights bill.

The Loser amendment is similar to one adopted last week in the Senate, making it a federal crime to transport explosives across state lines to bomb any building or vehicle.

This section of the bill makes it a federal crime to flee across state lines to escape prosecution for the bombing of any structure or vehicle. Aimed originally at hate bombings of schools or churches, it now has been broadened in both houses to include labor bombings as well.

An important Southern amendment agreed to by the House Tuesday was the one dealing with the education of servicemen's children.

This section of the bill was drafted to provide for the education of servicemen's children when local schools are closed by state action to avoid racial integration.

As written, it would have empowered the U.S. commissioner of education to move in and take over any public school built with federal aid money.

Two's a Crowd At This Big Political Rally

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (UPI)—A typographical error in the Huntington Advertiser Monday undoubtedly brought some smiles to certain readers.

The newspaper said Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) would open his West Virginia eampaign for the Democratic presidential nomination with an address here Wednesday in "the main bathroom" of a local hotel.

The newspaper explained later that the story should have read "main ballroom."

peal and the appeal has not been docketed in the said Court of Appeals (in New Orleans, La.). Wherefore plaintiffs pray that this court enter an order dismissing their appeal."

Dismissal of the appeal would leave the burden of deciding whether Atlanta's schools will be desegregated this fall with Judge Hooper.

His March 10 order mentioned the possibility of a September 1961 date for putting the desegregation plan into effect instead of 1960. The order also overruled a request by the Negroes to ignore the Sibley hearings.

The Negroes said that the plan must be put into effect by May 1 or its operation would be delayed a year. The plan calls for students to submit transfer applications between May 1-15 for the school year beginning in September.

Hooper, however, contended that a May 9 decision would still leave plenty of time for such transfers to be submitted should he rule for desegregation this September.

In his order, the judge said he was "not utterly without hope that the people of Georgia, when properly and adequately informed of the true issues of the matter, will adopt a course of action which will preserve the common schools of Georgia and avoid a closing of the same, which might bring on a disruption and damage requiring many years to repair."

Screen Writers Resuming Talks

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The striking Screen Actors Guild and the Association of Motion Picture Producers agreed Tuesday to resume negotiations Thursday afternoon.

The agreement came several hours after the Guild accused producers of stalling negotiations in the 16-day-old strike. The SAG threatened to seek federal mediation.

The major issue is the Guild's demand for a share of profits from the sale of post-1948 movies to television.

School Officials Expected To Lead Off Sibley Hearing

comprising Fulton, DeKalb and Rockdale counties.

A hearing in Gainesville Thursday will complete the full-panel hearings in the state's 10 congressional districts.

A subcommittee will go to the Muscogee County Courthouse in Columbus March 31, however, the committee announced Tuesday.

Thus far the majority of witnesses in five districts have favored closing the state's schools rather than allowing any integration.

The majority in three districts have favored local option.

Both the Atlanta and Gainesville sessions are expected to develop pro-option sentiment, thereby dividing the districts 5-5 on the issue.

But the segregation-at-all-costs forces probably will field a sizeable team at the Atlanta hearing.

The largest pro-segregation group in the area, the Metropolitan Association to Continue Segregated Education (MACSE), has been urging members to attend.

And HOPE, the largest organization specifically formed to present the open-school view, also is expected to bring a large number of members.

Greer said he thought representatives of each group would be allowed to testify but that later in the day the committee might attempt to count other members actually taking them to the witness stand.

He also reported that representatives of Rockdale County will be allowed to testify before noon.

There will be only a few Rockdale witnesses, he explained, and it would not be fair to make them wait for the entire Fulton and DeKalb delegations to testify.

The 300 parking places at the school will be roped off for commission members and witnesses.

VA Hospital Here Given High Priority

A new 500-to-600-bed Veterans Administration hospital for Atlanta has a "high priority on our list," Sumner G. Whittier, head of the VA, said here Tuesday.

Visiting Georgia for the first time since he became Administrator of Veterans Affairs in 1957, Whittier said in an interview that the VA will request funds for planning in the fiscal year 1962.

"I know that those who are earnestly desirous of seeing the facility rise as soon as possible know that VA has many other hospitals in its pipeline for construction," he added.

"In an orderly program we can achieve a sound program and take care of the needs of veterans everywhere," he continued. "Sometimes pressures grow that result in imbalance in the program.

"I can assure all that Atlanta is high on our priority list."

The present 300-bed VA hospital came under attack last month in The National News, a publication for the Veterans of World War I. The publication charged that 40,000 persons may eventually be denied needed medical attention if the facilities here remain inadequate.

Some VA officials contend that the present facilities in Atlanta are too small, out of date, and too costly to maintain.

In January, the Georgia House passed a resolution urging Congress to appropriate funds to build the new hospital deemed "urgently needed."

After an inspection Tuesday, Whittier said the Atlanta VA hospital "renders top medical care and I certainly wish to reassure any person who has a loved one in our institution that he is receiving fine care."

Titan Streaks 5,000 Miles To Bullseye

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force successfully fired its Titan intercontinental range missile Tuesday over a 5,000-mile course for the second time.

An announcement shortly after the launching reported that all test objectives were met and that the nose cone landed in the intended impact area in the South Atlantic.

The Titan covered the 5,000-mile distance for the first time on Feb. 24. The only Titan launched since then fizzled in flight when the second stage failed to ignite.

The success probably will relieve some of the pressure exerted on the program by a rash of troubles that have plagued the Titan in the last 10 months.

John Hellams Dies; Served in Avondale

John R. Hellams, 62, safety engineer for Continental Casualty Co. and a former city manager of Avondale Estates, died in a private hospital Tuesday.

Mr. Hellams was Avondale city manager from July 1948 until May, 1954, when he resigned "because I'm tired and I'm behind on my fishing."

139 White Students Back Negro Appeal

One hundred and 39 students in Atlanta white colleges have pledged to help Negroes in their "campaign to secure full citizenship rights," an interracial group of students reported Tuesday.

The group secured a petition bearing the signatures of 438 students and endorsing the "Appeal for Human Rights" made by Atlanta Negro college students on March 9.

The petitioners included 299 students from Atlanta Negro colleges, 116 from Emory University, 17 from Georgia Tech and six from Agnes Scott.

The sitdown demonstrations in Atlanta occurred last week—six days after the "Appeal for Human Rights" was made in full-page advertisements in The Atlanta Constitution, The Atlanta Journal and the Atlanta World. The ad set forth what the students contended are the rights of all persons, and the students pledged to use all legal and nonviolent means to secure full rights for Negroes.

Tuesday's petition was released for publication by two representatives of the interracial students group: Zach Hall, 22, Emory sophomore medical student, of Atlanta, and Eddie Mae Jones, Spelman College junior from Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Hall described his group as "informal and social" and said it had existed for about two years. The group numbers less than 20, he said.

EMORY STUDENT SPEAKS

Hall said one of the reasons for securing the petition was, "We thought that the people of Atlanta and the state should know that there was some communication between the races at the student level. . . ."

He added, "We wanted to show that many students of Atlanta are behind the 'Appeal for Human Rights,' regardless of race."

The petition sets out that the students "think it appropriate that students should speak out at this time. We reaffirm and support the aims and objectives expressed in the proclamation (the human rights ad).

50 PCT. SIGNED

"We intend actively to support 'every legal and nonviolent means at our disposal' to secure full citizenship rights for every member of our democracy."

Hall said about 50 per cent of the Emory students who were approached on the matter signed the petition. He said little effort was made to secure signatures at Georgia Tech and Agnes Scott and no efforts were made at Oglethorpe University and Georgia State College of Business Administration.

Hall said more time was spent circulating the petition at Emory because several members of the interracial students group are from that university.

Buy Tags By Mail to Avoid Lines

Buy them by mail! That's the plea of Fulton County Tax Commissioner Standish Thompson to automobile owners who have not bought their 1960 tags.

"They've waited too late to avoid standing in line. These lines will be longer and longer as the April 1 deadline approaches," Thompson explained.

For 25 cents (the required mailing fee) tag-buyers can save waiting as long as an hour and a half, he said.

"We're behind on tag sales as well as on the filing of tax returns," commented Thompson.

Thompson had this word of caution for mail order tag buyers: Send money orders or registered checks, be sure to send proof of ownership (which will be returned with new tag) and be certain all copies of tag applications are legible.

Your Income Tax

Here's Check List to Help You Save

Prepared by the Georgia Society of Certified Public Accountants for The Atlanta Constitution as a public service.

Last of 11 articles.

In this series of articles, which has been published for the last 10 days, it has been pointed out that income taxes can be saved and you can avoid a great deal of trouble from auditing of your returns by properly reporting each item called for on the return.

Taxes can be saved by watching closely each item of income to be sure that only that on which a tax is due is reported and by being sure that all dependency exemptions and deductions are properly claimed. The following may be clipped out and used as a check list at the time you prepare your returns:

CHOOSE RIGHT FORMS—If you have only wages, dividends and interest as income you may be entitled, under certain conditions, to use either of the simplified tax forms, the 1040A or the 1040W. If you have a number of deductions, check the tax-saving possibility from the use of Form 1040, the long form. In any event remember that usually on the federal return taxes can be saved by filing a joint return. If both husband and wife have income, probably tax can be saved by having each report his or her income separately on the State of Georgia return.

NONTAXABLE INCOME — Remember that all income is not taxable. Social Security benefits, certain employe retirement benefits, sick pay and, for the State of Georgia, interest on U.S. government bonds, are some of the items not taxable. Check carefully on any unusual type of income which you have to make sure that you do not unnecessarily pay tax on it.

CLAIM YOUR DEPENDENTS —$600 exemption is allowed for each qualified dependent on the federal and state return. Any close relative for whom you contribute over one-half of the support probably qualifies as a dependent.

Check the rules again on this to be sure that you have listed and claimed all those allowable, and do not forget your own or your wife's personal exemption of $600 with an extra $600 each for being over 65 years of age or blindness.

OTHER INCOME—In previous articles, the special tax treatment of rental and investment income and income from pensions and retirement was discussed. On the returns, there are special places for reporting these items, and you must report them properly in order to gain any tax saving which might be possible.

Not all of these items are taxable and some are only partly taxable, so read the instructions with the tax return before you fill out the schedule on these items.

IF YOU LIST DEDUCTIONS—Charitable contributions, taxes, interest, child care expense, casualty losses, medical expense and other deductions can be listed and can result in substantial tax saving for you if the total of these items is more than 10 per cent of your total income.

If they do not equal at least 10 per cent of your income, then on your federal return a standard deduction of 10 per cent of your income, but not over certain stated limits, can be taken and will probably result in your paying less tax.

These deductions should be listed on a work sheet and added up before the return is actually prepared, then several computations should be made to find the cheapest way of reporting before the return is made finally for filing.

BUSINESS EXPENSE ACCOUNTS — Read again the articles on reporting of employe's expense accounts. Very special rules have been made by the Internal Revenue Service for the reporting of the amounts that you receive from your employer and the amounts that you spend as business expense.

By properly reporting these items on your return, you can save both yourself and the federal and State revenue departments a great deal of work in the reviewing and auditing of your return in the future.

KEEP YOUR RECORDS — Be sure that each item on your return can be properly substantiated in the event of an examination by the federal or state agents. Any time within three years after the return has been filed you may be called upon to produce your records and explain any item of income or deduction shown on your return.

Any item of deduction which cannot properly be proved may be disallowed and you might be required to pay additional income tax and interest. Therefore, your records should be saved for at least three years after you have filed your return. After that, no change can be made in your return, unless there has been a large omission of income or unless the return is fraudulent.

Negro Project Delays Southern Tech Branch

build Negro homes on a 125-acre tract bordering the future Southern Tech campus.

When the proposal was first made, Powell said, "I voted to pigeonhole anything that would affect that many people."

COMMITTEE NAMED

Subsequently, Marietta Mayor Sam Welch named Councilmen Powell, Ed Chastain and Bill Lee to a committee to study the proposal.

Powell said the city council will hold a "called meeting" at 7:30 p.m. Friday. "It's my opinion we'll vote on this issue then."

Dr. Edwin Harrison, president of Georgia Tech, said architects' plans for the Southern Tech facility at Marietta have been approved and "the contractor is ready to let the bids."

"But we are holding up the contract until we find out what's going to happen," he emphasized.

WERE SURPRISED

Larry Johnson, former head of Southern Tech who recently was named director of Georgia Tech's Engineering Extension Division, said Tech officials "were surprised and disappointed" to discover "a project of this nature was being considered adjacent to us."

Harrison said the transfer of Southern Tech was made with the understanding Cobb County "would do the site preparations."

"Some of the work has been done," he said, but no actual construction has been started yet.

the community itself in larger numbers will recognize it as not a Negro problem alone, but a community, state and national problem."

Asked if he agreed with the prevailing "pace" of desegregation, Dr. Clement said that anyone would be "not only unwise, but perhaps a little daffy" to attempt to set up "any general timetable."

The panel of newsmen questioning Dr. Clement was composed of Al Kuettner; United Press International; Perry Mullen, Associated Press; Bill Emerson, Newsweek magazine, and Ed Blair of the WAGA-TV news staff. Moderator was Dale Clark of WAGA-TV news.

Murder Warrant Names Policeman

GRIFFIN—A police officer has been charged with murder in the riot gun-slaying of a textile worker charged with drunkenness and wife beating.

Louie Duffy, a brother of the dead man, brought the charge against Detective Sgt. Harold Moore in a warrant sworn late Monday before a justice of the peace. A commitment hearing was called to determine whether the officer will be bound over to a higher court.

Moore was not arrested in advance of the hearing.

Homer Duffy, 35-year-old father of four, was killed late Sunday as officers sought to arrest him at his home four miles north of Griffin on a complaint of his wife that he was drinking and abusing her and the children.

Chief Deputy Sheriff W. C. Holcombe said Sgt. Moore felled Duffy with buckshot from a riot gun as the mill worker, routed from his barricaded home with tear gas, raised a .22-caliber rifle to fire at the officer. Holcombe said Duffy earlier had driven off another officer with a drawn knife.

A coroner's jury after hearing a dozen witnesses at a three-hour session found simply that Duffy died of gunshot wounds at the hands of the officer. Coroner Emmett E. Chappel conducted the inquest.

FAA Stiffens Rules to Halt Cuban Raids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is preparing to announce intensified measures to prevent private American planes from unauthorized flights to Cuba, it was learned Tuesday night.

Officials said the U.S. Federal Aviation Agency will release in a day or two details of a number of measures to tighten controls on small planes operating out of the large number of small airfields in Florida.

The stepped-up effort to prevent unauthorized flights of this type was described by officials as another evidence of the strong desire of the U.S. government to avoid any new incidents which would increase U.S.-Cuban tensions.

Cuban President Ernesto Dorticos complained again Sunday that American-based planes were trying to ruin Cuba's economy by setting fire to sugar cane fields.

Douglas Man Explains Incident at Cafe

DOUGLASVILLE — A Japanese-born Douglas County nursery operator said Tuesday he had no intention of trying to get in-the-cafe service for five Negroes when he told them to come into the Douglasville Cafe Sunday. "I ordered five containers of coffee to go out," Obukuro said. "And I couldn't carry all five containers so I told them to come in and get them." When they started in, Obukuro said, a waitress told him that the five Negroes would have to be served in the rear of the cafe. "Nobody told (them) to leave but me," Obukuro said. "I told them to go around to the kitchen and get the coffee and they did."

HER CRIES WIN HIS PAROLE

Leukemia Girl, 5, Gets Back Daddy

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The daddy she cried for nightly came home Tuesday to Helen Dean Williams, a 5-year-old leukemia victim with only weeks to live.

"Daddy, daddy, there comes daddy!" the thin girl with long blonde curls cried when she looked through the window from her bed and saw the man coming up the walk with a new doll under his arm.

In the joy of reunion, Helen paid no attention to the man who accompanied her father.

The stranger was a special guard, escorting Thelbert Williams to his home on a temporary parole from the federal prison at Petersburg, Va.

His stricken daughter's tears, the efforts of the Raleigh City Council and Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.), won the 10-to 12-day parole for Williams. He enetred prison last January to serve a four-year sentence for white slavery.

Williams, 28, must remain under guard during his stay in Raleigh, but Chief Deputy Marshal John D. Dixon said he will be allowed to visit with Helen two hours each day.

The prisoner also will get a bill from the government for his transportation costs, plus the expense of the guard to escort him back and forth from Wake County Jail.

Willa Williams, Helen's mother, said the girl had been very cheerful since she learned daddy was coming home.

Doctors have given the child only weeks to live.

7 Negroes Seek Entry To College

Police Stand By At Montgomery

By the Associated Press

Negroes began a new attack on segregation barriers in Alabama Tuesday on a day marked by the spread of demonstrations to a Tennessee art gallery and mushrooming sympathy protests by New England college students.

At Little Rock, Ark., the School Board announced it does not intend to extend integration to the city's junior high schools in September as once tentatively planned.

Seven Negroes — four youths and three girls — calmly applied for enrollment at the white University of Alabama Center at Montgomery, a night school where high school graduates take part-time courses for college credits.

Police stood by to prevent disorder.

ORDINANCES ADOPTED

The Montgomery City Commission adopted three new ordinances designed to give police more authority in handling demonstrations similar to those put on by students at Alabama State College for Negroes.

At Jackson, Miss., the Mississippi State Senate passed and sent to Gov. Ross Barnett for his signature three bills aimed at discouraging antisegregation sitdown strikes.

Memphis, Tenn., police arrested 23 Negro students during new demonstrations at the public art gallery and at a downtown branch library. The arrests occurred the day after 37 Negroes were fined for sitdowns at two public libraries last Saturday.

ARRESTED AT GALLERY

Seven students were arrested inside the Brooks Memorial Art Gallery and six others while they stood outside. The art gallery is open to white persons only except on Thursdays when it is reserved exclusively for Negroes.

About the same time 10 students were arrested in the branch library after they sat down in the segregated reading room.

In New England eight Brown University students picketed variety stores in Providence, R. I. They distributed petitions urging the stores to "initiate a new national policy of integration at lunch counters."

STUDENTS SEEK FUNDS

University of Connecticut students at Storrs, Conn., met to form a campus civil rights committee to raise funds for Southern Negro students affected by the demonstrations. Jeremy Dodd, 19, a sophomore and son of Sen. Dodd (D-Conn) was among those who participated.

Wheaton College students form a committee at Norton, Mass., to solicit funds for the legal defense of students expelled from Alabama State College. About 200 Skidmore College girls and a few faculty members paraded to a downtown variety store in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and returned to the campus.

Train Slams Bus, Killing 6 Youngsters

COY, Ala. (UPI)—A Frisco freight train ripped open a school bus at a crossing on a rural south Alabama road Tuesday killing six teen-age pupils. Fifteen others were injured, three critically.

Twenty - year - old student bus driver David Jackson said the brakes of the 10-year-old bus failed.

Shifting gears frantically in an effort to stop the bus, then stepping on the accelerator trying to beat the train, Jackson slid the bus into the locomotive's path.

"There was a jarring crash and the bus came apart," he said.

State highway patrol Sgt. C. E. Canterbury said the train ripped the bus almost in two pieces. Wreckage and bodies of the pupils, all Negroes, were strewn 1,500 feet along the tracks.

Jackson, who suffered only a thumb injury, and some of the older students with minor injuries, picked up the bodies of the dead and critically injured pupils and carried them in their arms to a nearby house.

They lay side by side on a big bed waiting for the arrival of ambulances—some from as far away as Mobile, 135 miles south of here.

The crossing on secondary county road 12 was marked by a sign but there was no blinker warning.

Jackson was picking up children on his usual morning rounds to attend the Negro high school and an elementary school at Camden. About 25 students were aboard.

Algerian Recruits Sought in Cairo

(Copyright 1960 by the New York Times Co.)

CAIRO—An office to recruit Arab volunteers to fight in the Algerian war is being opened in Cairo by President Nasser's "National Union."

The announcement Tuesday emphasized that volunteers would be accepted not only from the United Arab Republic but also from all Arab nations. Sources suggested that Algeria, long known for its French Legion, might soon have an Arab Legion fighting on the side of the Algerian insurgents.

It remains to be seen how intensive a drive is made to organize such a legion. Officially no goals have been set. It was learned that the National Union has one fully equipped division in mind although it is unclear who will provide the equipment and who will train the volunteers.

Significance is attached to the fact that the decision to recruit volunteers was taken at a time when the Algerian provisional government seated in Cairo had been unusually active.

The provisional government sent instructions to the insurgents a few days ago to intensify the war against the French. About the same time Belkacem Krim, Algerian deputy premier, told the press here that the provisional government no longer believed President De Gaulle was sincere in his professed desire to settle the Algerian problem by negotiation. He said the French President's recent statement that the dispute could be solved only by a decisive military victory had invalidated the provisional government's offer to settle by negotiation.

Part-Negro Rejected by French Unit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A San Francisco woman Tuesday charged an 8,000-member bay area French society with racial discrimination after it excluded her husband from membership because he is a mulatto.

Mrs. Serge Jean-Joseph, whose husband is captain of San Francisco's French soccer team, said his application was rejected by the French Mutual Benevolent Society, which operates the French Hospital here and provides medical care for members at a reduced rate.

There's No Bottom In Bag of Tricks

By PAUL JONES

Why doesn't someone create an award for the Most Resourceful Producer in Television and give it to Ralph Edwards, the always smiling host of This Is Your Life?

Jones

Although we have suspected many times that Edwards was running out of ways to trap his victims on this Wednesday night corn shuckin' he continues to come up with new gimmicks which surprise the subjects, if not always the television audience.

If you were watching the Dinah Shore show Sunday night you probably saw Edwards when he walked to Carl Reiner and informed him that he had been marked for the TV fish bowl.

We are sure that Reiner was surprised, not that he had been marked as a victim of TIYL, but by the manner in which Edwards trapped him.

At any rate Edwards has assumed that many television fans thought he was kidding when he walked off the stage with Reiner. Here's a message we received from Edwards Tuesday morning:

"Many people have thought I was kidding when I walked to Carl Reiner on the Dinah Shore show and said This Is Your Life. I wasn't kidding. We walked into another studio and taped This Is Your Life," Edwards says. "The whole nation will see it Wednesday night. You can print it. It's no secret now."

Edwards obviously is given to exaggerations. Surely the "whole nation" isn't going to be looking at his show Wednesday night on Channel 2.

But, assuming that a few of you will be watching, Edwards promises to show what transpired after they left Dinah's show.

THIS IS THE SNEAKIEST trick Edwards has used in a long time.

Who would have ever thought he would intrude on a star's network show while it was on the air and walk off with one of the featured personalities.

Heretofore Edwards has surprised his quarry in alleys, drugstores, recording studios, hallways in NBC-TV's sprawling Burbank Television City and in such commonplace surroundings as empty television studios.

The show has lost much of its surprise, if, alas, it ever had any, because of the routine manner in which Edwards has trapped his recent victims. Names of his subjects have leaked, weeks in advance, to news sources, and, while some of his subjects might have known about their impending on-the-air biographies, many newsmen throughout the country certainly had.

A notable exception was the show devoted to the loves, life and adventures of Lowell Thomas, which was one of the most amusing of all portraits Ralph has painted. The uninhibited Mr. Thomas simply overwhelmed nice-guy Edwards and for once, Edwards found himself up the river without a paddle. This show was fun.

IF YOU'RE GOING TO WATCH the Jack Parr show Wednesday night (Channel 11 at 11:15 p.m.) you might keep your thoughts to yourself. Howard and Kent, a vaudeville team, will demonstrate mental telepathy. It isn't known whether one can transmit thoughts over the coaxial cable, but it's best we keep our minds alert, anyway.

THE SCHOOL STUDY COMMITTEE, headed by John Sibley, moves into Henry Grady High School Wednesday and television and radio will move in, too. Channel 11 brings its cameras along at 10 a.m. and Channel 2 will be there at 10:30 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. WSB-Radio will do remote pick-ups from the scene of the hearing starting at 10:10 a.m. Wednesday.

John Sibley

WSB-RADIO will be off the air for a time Wednesday. Normally on a 24-hour schedule, the station will leave the air from 11:15 p.m. Wednesday to 5:15 a.m. Thursday. The radio tower needs some repairs, it seems.

A Taut Drama of Circus Life

By THE TV SCOUT

BEST BET — Richard Boone gets to be a clown on The U.S. Steel Hour in a circus drama that builds a lot of emotional power. Boone has the orphaned son of a high-wire act in his charge and is trying to tout the boy off circus life. As the play unravels, we find Boone has a few secrets, which give him a huge sense of guilt. Somehow this makes him fight off the advances of Geraldine Brooks, as a circus girl who'd like to make a home for him.

Richard Boone

Miss Brooks was working with Boone in a Have Gun, Will Travel episode when Boone got the script for this play. He told her there was a good part in it for her, and she went after it. When she got it, she sent Boone a basket of flowers, with a card reading, "To my favorite agent."

This play, "The Charlie and the Kid," has some strong scenes along the way, but the ending is just a touch too pat. 10-11 (Ch. 5).

7:30-8 (Ch. 11)—Music for a Spring Night takes its songs Wednesday from the New York stage, both on and off Broadway.

The biggest name on hand, to TV fans, is Dody Goodman who will do a comedy number, "The Last Rockette," from her off-Broadway revue, "Parade." Eileen Brennan, who plays "Little Mary Sunshine," makes her second TV appearance; her first was with Ed Sullivan two weeks ago. Others on hand are Anita Darian, (now in "Flower Drum Song"), Brian Davies (an attractive youth from "The Sound of Music"), Richard Tone (singer and dancer of "Parade"), and Pamela Charles (the current Eliza of "My Fair Lady").

Only the "Parade" numbers will be done as on stage; the others will be hinted at. An overture from "Gypsy" and a finale from "Parade" round out the program.

7:30-8:30 (Ch. 2)—Ward Bond's patience is severely strained and yours may be, too, by all the little boys aboard Wagon Train this week.

Phyllis Thaxter, the bravest schoolteacher in St. Louis, shepherds 11 orphans West, rather than give them to the authorities. And she picks up extras along the way. She even finds a man willing to play father to her mother by the time this mobile Grand Hotel is out of Missouri.

If you like child actors, there are plenty here. The show is without violence, a laudable step.

9-10 (Ch. 2)—Much music on the Perry Como Show Wednesday, and some good people to pound it out.

Martyn Green

Edyie Gorme and Steve Lawrence each have a solo spot and then duet, too. Martyn Green, after he finishes teaching Perry to wear a monocle, dashes through one of his Gilbert and Sullivan specialties, "When I Was a Lad," from "H. M. S. Pinafore."

Don Adams, the non-sick comic, is the sole nonmusical guest here. The entire cast gets together for songs from "Rio Rita," as the closing medley. The theme throughout this show, too, is the advent of spring.

BIG-HEARTED JAKE SLOAN

Andy Devine a Detective, Too

HOLLYWOOD — Big Jake, a new mystery-detective series starring Andy Devine as a present-day dedicated, compassionate police officer, is in preparation as a nighttime feature, it was announced Tuesday by David Levy, vice president, programs and talent, NBC-TV.

Andy Devine

In the half-hour filmed series —for which the pilot film has already been shot—Devine will play Detective Sgt. Jake Sloan, a character made famous in many Saturday Evening Post stories.

Sloan works out of the detective bureau of a large city in the Pacific Northwest. Able and tough, yet "with a heart as big as his waistline," Jake heads the safe detail. As second in command of the bureau, he also frequently directs the activities of the various detective squads and, because of his knowledge of the city and its people, his advice and help are sought in problems of all kinds. However, his sympathy for people in trouble often prompts him to go to unusual lengths to keep them within the law, even at great risk to his rank and safety.

Comedy writer Pat McCormick and talent coordinator Ric Eyrich have joined the staff of the NBC-TV network's the Jack Paar Show (Monday through Friday, 11:15 to 1 a.m.).

McCormick has written material for Jonathan Winters, including the comedian's two-week appearance as replacement for Jack Paar last year. McCormick also had his own night club act with rising comedian Mark Huff, which played engagements in New York's Greenwich Village. He also was a space salesman for Parade Magazine in Chicago. McCormick replaces Woody Kling on the Paar staff. Kling is slated for the West Coast.

Oscar Homolka will play the role of the villainous Mr. Shomberg, when he appears as special guest on "Victory," the Friday, April 8, colorcast of "The Art Carney Show.

Also added to the list of guest stars for the Joseph Conrad drama are Richard Harris and Ruth White. Harris will be seen as Ricardo and Miss White will portray Mrs. Shomberg.

THE DAY OLD CROW WAS BORN

...125 years ago The birth of Old Crow set a new standard of quality for all time. It was the most important event in Kentucky bourbon history.

WHEN OLD CROW first appeared, it was without question the best quality Kentucky bourbon anyone had ever tasted. It is rare for history to record the personal brand preferences of great men—but public writings abound with references to Old Crow.

Secretary of State HENRY CLAY, personally ordered Old Crow by the barrel. The great Senator DANIEL WEBSTER pronounced Old Crow "the finest in the world." MARK TWAIN made sure his favorite tavern carried a sufficient supply. JACK LONDON called it "best"; O'HENRY, "superb."

Today, it is still the most preferred bourbon in our land. Think of how good Kentucky's Old Crow must be to have earned this spontaneous respect over all these years! Taste the greatness of historic Old Crow...born 125 years ago!

Elvis Cuts New Records In Secret

DECATUR, Ala. (AP)—Elvis Presley, the singing idol of the teen-agers, was Miami bound Tuesday after a secret recording session at Nashville, Tenn.

Tom Parker, Presley's manager, declined any information on the type of recording. The rock 'n' roll star is starting a comeback after service in the army which took him to Germany.

Thousands of youngsters crowded railroad stations at Birmingham and Decatur Monday when Presley's train passed through. He obliged the cheering groups by waving from the platform of his private car.

STAR STUDENTS HONORED BY DOWNTOWN KIWANIS CLUB
L-R: John B. Pendergrast Jr., Edward Hammond, Albert Ruehmann

Cherry Urges Raises to Pave Way to Fire Inept Teachers

Higher salaries that would permit DeKalb County to dismiss incompetent teachers were urged Tuesday by DeKalb Superintendent of Schools Jim Cherry.

Cherry, who spoke to DeKalb's STAR students and teachers at the American Legion Club in Avondale, said he wasn't singling out DeKalb's school system, which he praised, but was voicing an appeal that would help all "neighbor" systems.

DeKalb, Fulton and other counties are participating in the statewide STAR program, sponsored by the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce to encourage scholastic achievement and to honor the teaching profession.

In the Fulton contest John B. Pendergrast Jr. of Westminster School and Albert C. Ruehmann of College Park High School were named the 1960 STAR students for the Atlanta School System Area and the Fulton County School System Area.

Rheumann named his English teacher, Mrs. John Bogle as STAR teacher, and Pendergrast named his English teacher, Don M. Gaebelein.

Roger Cook Park, senior from Decatur High School (Decatur is separate from the DeKalb School System) and Melinda Whitman of Druid Hills School of the DeKalb County High School System were named STAR students in the program at Avondale.

Park named his english teacher, Miss Ann Lewis, his STAR teacher. Melinda Whitman said that Mrs. Evelyn Gibson, her chemistry teacher made the greatest contribution to her scholastic achievement. DeKalb's part in the program is sponsored by the DeKalb Jaycees.

It was after Decatur School Superintendent Carl Renfroe praised Roger Park as being in the 99 per cent group national standing, and Decatur High School for sending 80 per cent of its graduates to college that Cherry asked for consideration of "quantitative" education.

"DeKalb graduates 1,400 students a year. It provides high school education for 75 per cent of its white children, 35 per cent of its Negroes," Cherry said. "The DeKalb district alone can employ over half of the teachers being graduated in the state."

"We need a standard to fix it so I can get rid of all the incompetent teachers in DeKalb County," Cherry said, voicing the need for higher salaries. "These values I believe in and you believe in cannot be sustained in a state that has not yet realized human values to the extent of providing high school education for all its boys and girls."

While the DeKalb banquet was going on, Walter T. Cates, executive vice president of the state Chamber of Commerce, was telling STARS in the Kiwanis-sponsored Atlanta affair, that a "smart David can always lick a dumb Goliath."

"The success of the STAR program demonstrates the growing awareness of our responsibilities in recognizing achievement in the scholastic field," Cates said.

No Egleston In DeKalb, City Is Told

Resolution Rejects Negro Project

DeKalb's County Commission told Atlanta in a resolution Tuesday that it wanted no part of an Egleston relocation project within DeKalb's boundaries.

Commissioner Brince Manning presented the resolution, which was adopted unanimously.

The resolution which did not mention the DeKalb site in question (but the site was said to be the Pullman Plant location at Rogers street and DeKalb avenue) said that DeKalb County was anxious to keep all its properties on the tax digest and that location of the Atlanta project in DeKalb would "adversely affect a large percentage of the population . . ."

The resolution said, "It has been brought to our attention that the City of Atlanta and the Atlanta Housing Authority under the urban renewal program, are contemplating a plan for locating a public housing project within the limits of DeKalb County, said project being publicly known as the Egleston project. . . ."

The Board of Commissioners also adopted into the minutes a resolution by the DeKalb Jaycees endorsing a $2,250,000 bond issue for an incinerator calling for sewer improvements and asking that a full time public relations man for the county be hired.

John McAllister, Jaycee president, said that a survey had revealed the interest of a group of citizens selected at random in having an incinerator. He said that the sewage project was similarly endorsed and that incidentally the poll revealed that DeKalb citizens lacked vital information on county governmental functions.

The commission put off until Wednesday the setting of a date for the incinerator bond issue.

Housewife Bound to Grand Jury In Try to Rob Grocery of $15

A 19-year-old blonde housewife Tuesday was ordered held under $5,000 bond for the Fulton County Grand Jury on charges of attempting to rob a grocery store.

Mrs. Catherine Ola May, of 1185 Regent St., NW, pleaded guilty to the charge of attempted robbery in a hearing before Municipal Judge Luke Arnold. Detectives Y. H. Allen and B. G. Holland said.

The detectives said Mrs. May told them she wanted $15 to purchase a bus ticket to Tampa, Fla., and visit relatives. She was quoted she used a pistol her husband had purchased for protection in an attempt to rob a grocery on Calhoun street, NW.

Barefoot Bandit

HOUSTON, Miss (UPI)—A bandit with a black mask over his head and a pistol took $300 from a cash register at a service station here Monday night. About all attendent Billy Morris could furnish in the way of description was that the man was barefoot.

Atlantan Gets 5 to 7 Years In Shooting of Former Wife

Shootings arising from domestic troubles have brought a prison term of five to seven years for one man and a $500 fine and a probated sentence to another.

The prison term was imposed by Fulton Superior Court Judge E. E. Andrews on Ed Lonzo Smith, who pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted murder in the Feb. 11 shooting of his former wife, Mrs. Johnny Mae Smith of a Greenwood avenue, NE, address.

Smith also pleaded guilty to two counts of carrying a concealed weapon and carrying a pistol without a license and got two concurrent 12 months sentences.

The fine and a probated sentence of 8 to 10 years was imposed by Judge Andrews on Jesse Lee Goodman, 30, of Rte. 6, Marietta, for the wounding of Mrs. Helen Goodman, 27, on Oct. 17.

However, Assistant Sol. Gen. Walter LeCraw told Judge Andrews the couple had been reconciled and the wife did not want to prosecute.

GOREN on Bridge

North chose to make an introductory call of one club today for though his heart suit was biddable, he feared that the major suit opening might lead to rebid complications. South had the values for an immediate jump shift, inasmuch as his hand was worth 20 points in support of clubs, but he elected to make a temporizing response of one heart in order to permit a more natural rebid from partner. When North gave a direct raise to two hearts, South felt assured of a slam and proceeded to ask for aces. Over the five heart response, South decided that the hand would play better in hearts if North had four, as the clubs could then be used for discards, so he bid six hearts.

North-South vulnerable. North deals.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	4 NT.	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	6 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♠

West was reluctant to cash his ace with no indication as to where another trick might be forthcoming, so he made the neutral opening of the ten of spades. Declarer could see nothing more to the hand than guessing the location of the diamond ace which he relegated to East when that card was not led at trick one. He therefore drew three rounds of trumps winding up in dummy and led a diamond toward his king. When West produced the ace and the queen, declarer was down one.

South's assumption concerning the location of the ace was not particularly sound, but what is more important he overlooked a line of play which virtually assures fulfillment. After winning the opening lead, 12 tricks can be won by making the dummy the master hand. The nine of hearts is overtaken by the ten to ruff a spade. Then the king of hearts is played over to the ace and the queen of spades is trumped with declarer's last heart. Now a club puts dummy in to draw the last trump after which the club suit is run. Two diamonds are discarded on the fourth and fifth clubs and declarer has only to concede a diamond at the end. Another case of dummy reversal.

Exodus to U.S. Jams Cuban Ships

HAVANA (AP) — An exodus of Americans from Cuba is creating a jam at the two largest shipping firms in Havana.

Spokesmen at the two companies said they could not handle the flood of orders with less than a month's delay. One said they could handle no shipment before May 15.

They said most of the shipping orders are from U.S. families leaving this country. Many were said to be connected with businesses forced out by the Cuban government's laws.

Plans for Probe Of Finch Jury Are Given Up

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Plans for an investigation of the deadlocked Finch-Tregoff murder trial jury have been dropped because such a probe might prejudice a retrial of the case, the district attorney's office said.

"The reported misconduct," said acting District Attorney Manley Bowler, "while reprehensible, does not appear to form the basis of any prosecution action."

Jurors on the panel of five men and seven women who heard the case against Carol Tregoff and Dr. R. Bernard Finch told of threats, violence, fear and prejudice by some members of the jury.

State Restricts Use Of School Funds

The State Board of Education decided tentatively Tuesday that no school system may use newly authorized School Building Authority funds unless it has bonded itself up to 75 per cent of local ability.

Local bonding ability comes to 7 per cent of the school district's tax digest.

The state board also decided that funds must be used first for classrooms.

USES DESCRIBED

If the local system has enough rooms for current enrollment and projected enrollment for the next 10 years, then it may use the new state funds for:

1. Rehabilitating buildings.

2. Paying off building debts.

3. Building gymnasiums and auditoriums—provided the local system matches the funds.

Dr. Claude Purcell, state superintendent of education, said he did not think any bonds would be issued until after the general election in November.

CLOSINGS COVERED

If a proposed constitutional amendment to put the state's guarantee behind authority bonds is approved in the general election, he said, the authority will be able to get a better bond rate.

Purcell said he believed that if any school system were closed because of integration, no bonds would be floated for that system.

However, funds due that system probably would be held in escrow, he added.

In other business, the state board decided to authorize local boards of education to approve fund-raising drives by pupils.

MODIFIES BAN

The state board's decision modifies an outright ban on student drives adopted last year.

The change of heart apparently stems from a resolution adopted by the 1960 General Assembly urging the board to rescind the ban.

Under the new regulations, local boards must specifically authorize each drive individually, and the action must be recorded in the local board's minutes.

Left in effect by the state board was a rule which states that any school superintendent who permits drives without his board's authorization will lose his state-supplied pay.

FIRE TRAP?

375 Ask New School At Smyrna

By HUNTER JAMES

Smyrna Elementary School may be a fire trap, but there is strong disagreement as to what kind.

Three hundred and 75 patrons of the school examined the issue Tuesday night and came up with a clear-cut opinion as to what they wanted.

But they were less sure how to get it.

The PTA, meeting in the school gymnasium, voted to get a new school at once or, failing in that, to make the old one over into a monument of safety.

ACTION DOUBTED

Some officials doubted that either alternative was feasible.

The issue of whether the school is a fire trap came up when the PTA, at its February meeting, showed a film of the 1958 Chicago school fire in which 95 children were killed.

Patrons of the Smyrna school took a second look at the old building. The deputy fire marshal was invited out to take a look.

He drew up a list of 10 recommendations for correcting the situations.

BOILER DOOR DEBATED

It was his first recommendation—to install a self-closing device on the boiler room door—that caused most of the debate at Tuesday night's meeting.

Paul Crump, principal of the school, said the building was certainly a fire trap, but he disagreed with almost every one of the deputy fire marshal's recommendations.

He said the boiler room door, for example, was already equipped with a self-closing device. A look at the door bore him out.

"The building is old and it's wood and it is inherently a fire hazard," he said, "but none of these recommendations will help anybody."

PANEL APPOINTED

Crump demonstrated his feelings even better when he said: "I can empty this school of children in a minute and 15 seconds in case of fire; and if it becomes necessary, I promise I will prefer charges against anyone who calls the fire department, except to save the surrounding buildings."

Mrs. J. R. McDaniel, president of the PTA, appointed a nine-member committee to pursue the question of whether the school is a fire hazard.

The Smyrna town council is backing her effort. But Mayor George W. Keeler said nothing could be done until a countywide school bond election is held.

Some parents wanted to vote on a Smyrna school bond issue. But the mayor said it couldn't be done on a local basis.

C of C Drafts Statement On Schools

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce will present its views on the school question to the Sibley Commission Wednesday.

But the gist of the statement is as yet unknown.

The chamber's board of directors drew up the statement Tuesday morning at a special meeting and agreed to keep it in the hat until Wednesday.

Ivan Allen Jr., who presided at the meeting, said only that the statement was short and clear and that chamber General Manager Frank Shaw Shaw would present it.

The chamber has until now declined to speak as a body on the school uqestion: it has preferred to wait until the right moment.

But Allen said it has not ignored the problem. "This statement is the result of dozens of meetings and I would say that it is very clarifying," he said. "We thought this was the most propitious moment for it."

Jesse Walton Will Oppose Rep. Smith

Former Fulton Rep. Jesse L. Walton has announced he will oppose incumbent Rep. M. M. (Muggsy) Smith in this year's Democratic primary.

Jesse Walton

Walton served in the 1949-50 term of the Legislature.

In announcing his candidacy, Walton charged Smith has not been able to get along with the state administration.

"While he (Smith) has fiddled a tune of integration, Atlanta has suffered," Walton said. "He has succeeded in misleading the colored people while doing nothing for the Fulton County taxpayers."

Declaring to campaign for "an end to Atlanta's undercover politics" and the Plan of Improvement, Walton said his platform would be:

1. Appointment of a committee to study Atlanta and Fulton County forms of government, the school situation, and a long-range program of taxation.

2. Work for percentage of sales tax to be paid back to the city and county.

3. No new taxes.

4. Restoring the government to the people.

Asked about Walton's candidacy, Smith answered with a flat "no comment."

Dear Norman:

...ve read with great interest the prospectus ... Century, dated March 4, 1960.

This is an exceedingly interesting and informative sheet. I was especially impressed by the skill of you and your associates in recreating the spirit and the character of the times, both in the format and in the content. I had a very definite feeling of being back in 1860 as I looked at the illustrations and read the vividly written stories. ## You and the Journal-Constitution are to be congratulated on this splendid project. It should be an outstanding contribution to the observance of the Civil War Centennial. I wish you all success in this constructive undertaking.

Dear Mr. Shavin:

I like "The Atlanta Century" very much; it seems to me this is a very graphic and appealing way to provide an understanding of the background and the general course of events in America's greatest war. There is a sense of immediacy about the daily-newspaper story that one gets in no other way. I don't believe there is a better method to show, in genuinely readable style, how the nation moved into and through its most tragic experience; the advance sheets you let me see struck me as extremely well done, and I believe the Journal will find that it has a highly popular feature.

"The Atlanta Century" Gets Fan Mail From Eminent Writers

The first issue of the monumental Civil War series brought forth comments:

From Connemara Farms in Flat Rock, N.C. comes comment of Carl Sandburg, poet-historian and recognized authority on Abraham Lincoln; "I catch myself reading one news story after another, one little item after another, and getting the feel of the days a century ago when history every day was portentous and ran hot and wild."

From the author of "This Hallowed Ground" and "A Stillness at Appomattox," Bruce Catton; "It seems to me this is a very graphic and appealing way to provide an understanding of the background and general course of events in America's greatest war. There is a sense of immediacy about the daily-newspaper story that one gets in no other way. I don't believe there is a better method to show, in genuinely readable style, how the nation moved into and through its most tragic experience."

And from professors of history from Emory University, Bell I. Wiley, a member of the National Civil War Centennial Commission; University of Georgia, E. M. Coulter, and Louisiana State University, T. Harry Williams, come other words of commendation.

Pitchers to Return To Isle of Jersey

When Stanley F. Pitcher retired last month as vice president of Railway Express, he and Mrs. Pitcher made plans for a trip to Europe later in the year. Now, however, Mr. Pitcher has decided on an immediate trip, so he and Mrs. Pitcher are leaving Sunday for New York to sail Tuesday on the United States.

Landing at Le Havre, they will go direct to Paris for a week before crossing the channel to England. They will visit their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bishop, at Southampton, and then the Bishops will take them on a motor tour of Wales and Scotland.

Afterward the Atlantans will fly to the Isle of Jersey where Mr. Pitcher was born, and from where he sailed for the States to make his home at the age of 15. Following a visit to relatives on the island, the pair will be guests of other cousins, the Maurice Pitchers, in London before sailing for home on the United States on June 1.

MRS. ALEX C. KING has issued invitations for a luncheon today in compliment to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alex King Jr., a bride of last May. The affair will assemble a group of the honor guest's contemporaries at the Driving Club.

Mrs. King Jr. is the former Ross Carter of Greenville, S.C., and her marriage took place in that city.

TWENTY MEMBERS OF THE TRICYCLE SET gathered yesterday at the Capital City Country Club for the celebration of Lee Moran's sixth birthday at a party given by her mother, Mrs. Wesley Moran Jr.

The youngsters assembled at 3 o'clock to play games, hunt Easter eggs and help Lee cut her beautiful birthday cake which was surmounted by an Easter bunny and had a frieze of Easter eggs. The refreshment table was also decorated in the Easter theme with the use of baby chicks, bunny rabbits and Easter eggs.

BRIDE-ELECT LYNN BEVERIDGE has asked her grandmother, Mrs. Ann Beveridge, to keep the bride's book at her wedding reception on Saturday, and her great-aunt, Miss Harriet Bly of Minneapolis, to pour coffee.

Lynn will be married on Saturday evening at All Saints Episcopal Church to Thomas W. Kroetz of Fort Lauderdale, with a reception following at the Georgian Terrace. Mrs. R. G. Luke of Atlanta and Lynn's cousin, Mary Hill of Minneapolis, will cut the bride's cake. Assisting in entertaining will be Mrs. Peter Harrower, Josephine Lasseter of Marietta, and Lynn's cousin, Mrs. Harold Grey of Ozark, Ala.

Final parties for the bridal couple include the tea on Thursday at which Mrs. George Beveridge will honor her daughter at their Mathieson drive home, and the rehearsal dinner Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur L. Kroetz of Fort Lauderdale will give at Hart's for their son and his fiancee on Friday evening, with members of the wedding party and visitors comprising the guest list.

Spring Holiday Fun

Jill will arrive in time for the baptism of her small brother, Craig, on Saturday at St. Anne's Episcopal Church, with the Rev. Dudley Colhoun as officiant. Mr. and Mrs. John Vaught and Gordon Bynum will stand as sponsors for the baby. After the service, Mr. and Mrs. Pendergrast will entertain informally at tea at their home.

DR. AND MRS. JEFF RICHARDSON are rejoicing over the arrival of their first grandchild, a daughter, born March 10 to Mr. and Mrs. J. Kenneth Ford Jr. of Danville, Ky., who has been named Lucille Elizabeth for Mrs. Richardson. The Kenneth Fords Sr. of Atlanta are the baby's paternal grandparents.

As soon as the good news came, Mrs. Richardson hurried up to Danville to see her new granddaughter. She returned by way of Chattanooga to represent her alma mater, Lake Erie College for Women, at the inauguration of President LeRoy Martin of the University of Chattanooga.

MR. AND MRS. A. WALDO JONES are guests at the Riviera Motel while their home at Vinings is undergoing repairs of damage suffered in the recent ice storm.

GUESTS YESTERDAY AT THE ROXBORO ROAD HOME of Mrs. T. Earle Stribling, chaplain general of DAR, were Mrs. Ashmead White, president general, and Mrs. Erwin F. Seimes, recording secretary general, DAR, who returned with Mrs. Stribling from Huntsville, Ala., where they attended the Alabama state conference.

Today Mrs. White, Mrs. Seimes and Mrs. Stribling will go to Savannah for the Georgia state conference. A reception will be given tonight in their honor by the three local chapters at the famed Owen-Thomas House. Mrs. White will see for the first time the DAR-owned home of Georgia's signer, George Walton, when she and Mrs. Stribling spend the weekend in Augusta. On Monday she will go to Miami to conclude her Southern tour of state conferences.

Turn Storage Area Into a CD Shelter

By BARBARA BRIGHT

Extra cabinet and storage space, a commodity for which most housewives pine, can be found and put to a double use, Mrs. Kells Boland has discovered.

By making use of old cabinets, chests and suitcases, and assembling foodstuffs, jars, a gasoline stove, a plastic garbage can and a collapsible chaise longue into the often unused basement area around the furnace, Mrs. Boland has arranged a home shelter area.

Mrs. Boland, a past president of the Women's Volunteer Corps for Civil Defense, was last week awarded the first certification in Atlanta from Civil Defense for her home shelter.

FOOD SUPPLY

In the 10-foot-square area in the basement at the Boland home, 380 Robinhood Rd., NE, Mrs. Boland has collected a two weeks supply of food and materials needed to sustain her family for two weeks in event of disaster. The shelter area, in the center of the house, is walled with cinder blocks covered with concrete. In the corner of the shelter stands a 40-gallon water area. Around the walls are the cabinets and chests.

Emergency menus are listed on Page 21.

The shelves of two cabinets are stacked with canned and packaged food supplies, enough to feed her family of five for the 14-day period they might be forced to stay in the shelter as protection from radioactive fallout. Drinking water, seven gallons per person, is kept in tightly capped jugs.

EXTRA WATER

For extra drinking water or water for washing, Mrs. Boland could tap the water heater. And if time permitted after warning signals were broadcast, Mrs. Boland could fill her empty canning jars with water.

In the drawers of the chest, Mrs. Boland has stored extra clothing, blankets, medical supplies, books and games. In a suitcase are foil-wrapped sheets which have been sterilized by heating them in the oven. These can be used as bandages, Mrs. Boland pointed out.

On one chest stands a two-burner gasoline stove for cooking and heating. On another is a transistor radio tuned to the Conelrad frequency of 640 or 1240. A hurricane lamp and extra candles and matches for light are kept close at hand; extra batteries are stored in a sealed jar. A fire extinguisher is in one of the drawers of a chest.

On the bottom shelf of one cabinet Mrs. Boland pointed out an emergency kit for the car which would be ready to take along in case of orders for immediate evacuation. In the basket are canned foods, enough to feed the Boland family for three days.

Mrs. Boland, who is also Civil Defense chairman for the Atlanta PTA Council, said she prepared her shelter by simply "finding a use for the things that were cluttering up my storage space upstairs."

The only articles she bought especially for the shelter area were a plastic garbage can and the gasoline stove. The extra groceries she just picked up with her regular supplies.

20,000 HOMES

Though Mrs. Boland's shelter is the first one certified in the Atlanta area, Civil Defense Director Elliott R. Jackson said the Civil Defense goal for the Metropolitan Atlanta area is "a minimum of 10 per cent of homes—20,000 homes—equipped with a shelter area by the end of the year."

Though a basement shelter area is preferable, Mr. Jackson emphasized that homes without basements can prepare an emergency shelter in an inside hallway, room or corridor.

The purpose of the shelter is to provide the family a place to live for two weeks, safe from radioactive fallout and equipped with all the supplies the family will need, he said.

Miss Lake To Be Feted At Parties

Initiating the series of prenuptial parties to be given for bride-elect Irene Lake was the linen shower and luncheon at which Mrs. John K. Ottley Jr. and Mrs. C. Dixon Fowler were hosts on Saturday at the Ottley home on Valley circle.

Miss Lake's marriage to A. Bernard Haight Jr. of Atlanta will take place at an evening ceremony to be solemnized at 8 o'clock on Saturday, June 11, at the Peachtree Christian Church. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Lake Jr., will entertain at a reception afterward in the social hall of the church.

On Saturday, March 26, Mrs. R. J. Reynolds Jr. and her daughter, Marrianna, will be hostesses at dessert and a kitchen shower for the bride-to-be at their Berkshire road residence. On Saturday, April 9, Mrs. Harold B. Kirkpatrick and her daughter, Kay, will entertain at a luncheon at the Cherokee Club.

Mrs. William B. Teems, Mrs. Albert J. Bows and Mrs. Forrest Armstrong have planned a morning coffee for Irene on Friday, April 29. The party will be given at Mrs. Bows' home on W. Wesley road.

Mrs. Warren E. Foster has asked the privilege of giving the bridesmaids' luncheon, though no date has been set for the affair. On Friday evening, June 10, following the wedding rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bernard Haight Sr. will be hosts at dinner at the Atlanta Athletic Club for their son and his fiance.

After Mr. Haight and his bride return from their wedding trip, Mrs. Earle G. Neal will honor Mrs. Haight at a morning coffee.

Several other parties have been planned, though no dates have been set.

LOVELY ATTRACTIONS FOR SOUTHEASTERN BALLET FESTIVAL
Carole Sellers, Seated, Sandra Volkert and Judy Slack

Southeastern Ballet Festival To Feature Former Atlantans

When the fifth annual Southeastern Regional Ballet Festival gets under way at the Tower Theater on Friday, April 1, the program will feature two former Atlanta girls, Sandra Volkert and Carole Sellers.

Both are former members of the Southern Ballet of Atlanta which is the host company for the two-day festival.

Sandra is the former Sandra Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones of 3961 Tuxedo Rd., who studied here with Pittman Corry and Karen Conrad. In 1959 Atlantians saw her as dance soloist in "Miss Me Kate" presented by the Theater-Under-the-Stars. In previous years she was a member of the corps de ballet of the Theater-Under-the-Stars.

Sandra is now married to George Volkert of Nashville, Tenn., and she will appear here with the Nashville Ballet Society.

Carole is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sellers, now of Miami. She studied ballet in Europe while her father was stationed there with the U.S. Army, and in Atlanta she was a student of the Lottie Hentschel Dance Studio.

Carole, too, appeared with the Theater-Under-the-Stars during the 1958 season. She is now living in Miami with her family and will appear here with the Miami Ballet during the festival.

"Wonderland of Fashions" is the theme of the Fashion Show to be given at the Margaret Mitchell School on Friday, March 25, at 8 p.m.

Six teachers will substitute the yardstick for the hickory stick when they are fitted for clothes they will model. They, being a part of the PTA as well as parents, will give of their time to help raise money for the various activities.

Forty-four children will also serve as models. A dramatic highlight will be a doll collection fantasy, featuring real, live dolls portrayed by Mimi Calhoun, Mary Gossett Dalton, Linda Goldstein, Becky Jordan, Margaret McDaniel and Sherry Mills. The setting will be a little girl's bedroom scene with Nancy Saul as mistress of the dolls.

Mark Pendergrast will sing "Thank Heaven for Little Girls" and "Young at Heart" accompanied on the piano by John Pendergrast. Arlene Margoles will play the piano for the fashion show. All are students in the school.

Visiting Italians Battle For Native Women's Rights

By BETTY CARROLLTON

A couple of courageous visitors—themselves free of domestic entanglements—are battling for the rights of women in their native land.

The duo—Francesco Bartolozzi and Luciano Dall'Argine—are visiting Atlanta as part of a tour of observing labor-management relations in this country. They hope to augment the work of their unions in Italy with some of the things they are learning here.

High on the list of better working conditions for Italians are special considerations for the working woman. Emphasizing that "always the family comes first" when considering the woman's role in business and industry, the young men declared "American ideas" have, in part, accounted for the increase of women who work in Italy.

AMERICAN IDEAS

"The women in Italy," Francesco explained, "are more devoted to the family than interested in a career. But since World War II, they are beginning to have more American ideas, and more want to work."

With overall unemployment still a problem, it is "preferred that the man go to work, instead o fthe woman" in most cases.

Admittedly, the employer prefers men to women, declaring "the average woman is away from the job because of sickness much more than the average man." This is cause for heated arguments from young union leaders such as Francesco and Luciano. As spokesmen for the unions, they fireback that it costs an employer "no more to have a woman doing the work" than it does a man. Thus they battle for equal wages for men and women.

"But so far we have not gotten this," Luciano admitted. "The difference to the employer would not be much. But it is a question of principle."

"But we do have several laws that further protect the working woman," Francesco pointed out.

MATERNITY CLAUSE

These include a special maternity clause in the union contract, providing an expectant mother a 40-day leave of absence before the date of the expected birth. During this time, she draws full pay. For four months after the arrival of her child she receives full pay, but is not required to return to work. During the next 12 months, the mother need work only five hours each day to draw her regular pay. This is designed with the "family first" in mind.

"The mother is needed at home during this time," Luciano explained, "to insure the health of the child."

Until their unions took a stand, women in Italy could retire at the age of 60, and the men 65. By agreement, the unions "improved" the law to allow women to retire at the age of 55. To further protect them, no woman is allowed to work at night, in any job, in the country. The starting age for the working woman is 18. A man may begin working when he is 16.

FREE UNIONS

The Italians' trip to America is sponsored by the Office of International Organizations Affairs, U.S. Department of Labor, to assist in the development of strong free trade unions in countries where labor movements are still in danger of Communist control. In Atlanta, they were "acquainted with" the manner in which the Communications Workers service their large Southern membership.

Their host here is W. W. Brown, assistant director of District 3. Mr. Brown is helping to familiarize the visitors with such things as organization, education, administration, grievance handling and negotiations. In addition to the orientation at the union's headquarters, Francesco and Luciano toured telephone company installations and various tourist attractions here.

"Amazed" at the standard of living of the American woman, the visitors pointed out that "there really can be no comparison" between the two countries.

"For instance," Francesco said, "we must use between 45 and 50 per cent of our wages for food. Here, you need only about 22 per cent of your wages for food."

Italy, they reported, has its quota of femme fatales behind the steering wheel of automobiles. Admitting there are only a few women in Italy who own cars, the youths' groans were punctuated with gestures as they described the seemingly universal fear: the woman driver.

"The reaction when we see one coming is much the same here," Luciano declared, covering his head with his arms.

Dime Stores Aren't The Same Anymore

Sometimes when I get what we used to call the down-yonders, which is to say a streak of feeling blue, I seek to sooth and refresh myself by a trip to the dime store. I used to think this was strictly a feminine panacea until a friend of mine, wife of a theologian, told me that on the day before he has to teach a particularly demanding night Bible class her husband takes off from home and loses himslef in the dime stores.

"I'm not sure which stores he goes to or exactly what he does," she confessed. "But I know that he usually brings home some small item that he's been wanting—a special kind of notebook or a little wrench or a gift for me from the plant or the pots department."

The trip to the dime store gives his mind the necessary last-minute diversion which they say is important to good performers in many fields, including Olympic athletes.

I don't know how my theologian friend feels about it but it's becoming increasingly difficult for me to find asylum from the world's problems in the wonderful world of the five-and-ten. And the reason, of course, is the noise.

I wasn't happy when lunch counters and meat and bakery goods started invading the dime stores, permeating the air with the smell of cookery. I hated it when self-service moved in, taking the place of the pretty young clerks, who used to be potential sources of rags-to-riches success stories. (In my youth all dime-store girls looked like Mary Pickford and there were even songs that went, "I Found a Million-Dollar Baby in a . . ." well, you know.) Besides, I'm the kind of shopper who feels more secure if there's somebody back of the counter to counsel with me. I like roughly 25 cents worth of advice and reassurance for every 5 cents I spend. It's frustrating to be sent to pick up five two-inch machine screws, for instance, if you don't know a two-inch machine screw when you see it and there's nobody to ask.

The girl back of the counter may be guessing, too, but it's cheering and sociable to have her there rummaging through the bins with you, telling you what she thinks.

Still, I can stand buying the children socks that smell like barbecuing chicken and I can somehow muddle through Self Service. But I may not survive the horrid commercials, recorded and unrecorded, which are piped to the four corners of the dime stores today. Talk about your captive audiences, you are flailed, rawhided, all but skinned alive by ebullient-voiced gentlemen urging you to get on down to Counter 9 on the double and get your economy sized jar of something or other at the same time some silky sounding siren on a phonograph record is saying: "Hello-o, I'm Deborah Devour . . . I'm wearing a Snuggy-Buggy Bra!"

While I hovered over the hardware counter the other day, hopelessly foundered on the machine screw problem. I heard Deborah (or whatever her name is) give that same rundown on the state of her underwear eight times. I understand if I'd gone two counters deeper into the store I would have been treated to a colored movie of Deborah and her marvelous bra, which she promised one and all, young and old, black and white, male and female, would make "you, too, suddenly GLAMOROUS!"

They're not going to listen to me, I know. They don't care if I go six blocks and talk to a leisurely gentleman in a hardware store about my 10 cents worth of two-inch machine screws. But I do wish the dime stores would go back to human noises—the nice, blondined lady who used to rattle off on the piano any piece of sheet music you could pick up, or those persuasive, if hoarse-voiced, carnival types who demonstrate potato peelers or eczema cures. Being human they varied their pitch and sometimes even broke down.

Which is more than you can hope for from phonograph records.

She Could Feed Her Family of Five For Two Weeks in CD Shelter

Feeding a family of five for two weeks in a basement shelter, when none are able to go outside because of radioactivity, will pose no problem for Mrs. Kells Boland.

Though she hopes atomic disaster will not force her to use her supplies, Mrs. Boland has stocked the shelves of a cabinet in her basement with food supplies sufficient for two weeks.

Besides guaranteeing adequate food for emergencies, either man-made or natural, the extra food supply also assures Mrs. Boland of food for a quick Sunday night meal if guests drop in unexpectedly.

CANNED GOODS

The food stock is chiefly of canned goods, packaged mixes, dry cereals, dry milk, crackers and cookies. Foods canned in metal or glass will remain fresh for at least six months, Mrs. Boland said. She rotates the dry cereals and cookies every 10 days or two weeks to keep them tasty.

Mrs. Boland chose foods her family liked to eat for two reasons: for better morale if the family were forced to remain in the smaller shelter area for two weeks, and to be sure the goods would be included in her regular meal-planning after they were rotated.

"After I started getting food supplies, it began to get confusing and I didn't know how much I had," Mrs. Boland said. "So I set up a rough menu. I'm going to keep an inventory of the supplies, too, so I can remember when to rotate the foods."

THREE MEALS

Though the body may not require three meals a day when cooped up in the shelter area, Mrs. Boland said she felt it wiser to plan on serving three meals "for discipline and to give us something to think about." She does not plan any heavy meals, either.

Plastic as well as paper utensils for eating are included in Mrs. Boland's basement shelter, the first one in Atlanta to be certified by the local office of Civil Defense.

She explained that a family who had actually lived in a similar shelter for two weeks had found that food served on plastic plates tasted better than that served on paper utensils. She added that with an extra supply of water in the water tank, which is inside her basement shelter area, "I'm sure we will have enough water for washing cooking utensils and ourselves."

Mrs. Boland's menu is as follows:

SEVENTH DAY

Mrs. Boland said she planned to use the same menu for both weeks. She suggested that food should be bought in can sizes adequate for one meal to prevent food being wasted. To provide water for preparation of foods, Mrs. Boland said water-packed fruits or vegetables are preferable.

The Urban Renewal Committee of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Atlanta, at the direction of the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Atlanta, will hold a public hearing on the Urban Redevelopment Plan for the University Center Urban Redevelopment Project at 2 o'clock p.m., April 1, 1960, in the Aldermanic Chamber, City Hall, Atlanta, Georgia.

The purpose of the hearing is to consider an Urban Redevelopment Plan for the undertaking of an Urban Redevelopment Project in the University Center Urban Redevelopment Area in accordance with and in furtherance of the objectives of the Georgia Urban Redevelopment Law (Ga. Laws 1955, pp. 354-380) with Federal financial assistance under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949 (Public Law 171, 81st Cong.).

The University Center Urban Redevelopment Area consists of 350.5 acres of land in the west central section of the City of Atlanta, Georgia, approximately one mile from the City Hall, located in Land Lots 84, 85, 108, 109, 110, 116 and 117 of the Fourteenth District of Fulton County, Georgia, and is bound on the east by Northside Drive, on the south by West End Avenue and the Joel Chandler Harris Homes, on the west by Lawton Street and on the north by Hunter Street and Rhodes Street; and is more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at the northeast corner of Hunter and Vine Streets; thence north along the east side of Vine Street to the northeast corner of Vine and Rhodes Streets; thence west along the north side of Rhodes Street to its intersection with the west side of Sunset Street; thence south along the west side of Sunset Street to a point which is on the west side of Sunset Street where the north side of Carter Street, extended east from Griffin Street, intersects the west side of Sunset Street; thence west along the north side of Carter Street extended, to its intersection with the west side of Griffin Street and such line extended; thence south across Carter Street and along the west side of Griffin Street to the northwest corner of Griffin and Hunter Street; thence west along the north side of Hunter Street to a point directly north of the western side of Whitehouse Drive; thence southerly across Hunter Street and along the western side of Whitehouse Drive to the northern side of Beckwith Street; thence westerly along the northern side of Beckwith Street to the western side of Parsons Place; thence southerly along the western side of Parsons Place to the northern side of Parsons Street; thence westerly along the northern side of Parsons Street to a point which would intersect with the western side of Lawton Street, if extended across Parsons Street; thence southerly across Parsons Street and along the western side of Lawton Street to the southern side of Westview Drive; thence easterly across Lawton Street to the southeast intersection of Lawton Street and Westview Drive; thence in an easterly direction along the north boundary of Joel Chandler Harris Homes and crossing Baldwin Place, Abbott Street, Sells Street and Ashby Street to the west side of Lee Street; thence due east to the east side of Lee Street, which point is one hundred and eighty (180) feet more or less south of the southeastern intersection of Lee Street and West End Avenue; thence northerly along the east side of Lee Street, to the southeastern intersection of Lee Street and West End Avenue; thence, southeasterly along the southern side of West End Avenue and such line extended to the eastern side of the Expressway Spur; thence northeasterly along the eastern side of the Expressway Spur and Northside Drive to a point which is one hundred and forty (140) feet north of the center line of Markham Street; thence westerly from this point across Northside Drive and along the north side of Miller's alley three hundred and thirty-five (335) feet to a point; thence northerly along a property line to the south side of Mitchell Street; thence west along the south side of Mitchell Street a distance of one hundred and twenty (120) feet to a point; thence northerly across Mitchell Street, and continuing northerly, one hundred and seventy (170) feet to a point on an east and west property line between Mitchell and Hunter Streets; thence westerly along said east-west property line a distance of one hundred and seventy-two (172) feet to a point; thence northerly along a property line to and across Hunter Street to the northern side of Hunter Street; thence west along the north side of Hunter Street to the northeast corner of Hunter and Vine Streets and the point of beginning.

RHYME A DAY

By OLLIE REEVES

"As people become more civilized, their superstitions diminish, although there is good reason to believe there are certain days and certain events which seem to conspire against us."—Newspaper "filler."

When things have gone from bad to worse . . . And all your efforts can't reverse . . . The trend, the best solution known . . . Is to let everything alone . . . And, as the poker addicts say . . . "Unless you've got the cards to play . . . You'd just as well freeze to your stack . . . Of chips, until you luck comes back."

But it is always hard to wait . . . On Lady Luck or Madam Fate . . . Yet, you can't hurry them along . . . And when you try, something goes wrong . . . You tackle some familiar chore . . . Which you have done with ease before . . . And all your fingers turn to thumbs . . . Your wits grow dim, your mind succumbs . . . To pressures, as you "onward press" . . . Toward another hideous mess.

Right here the optimist comes in . . . And tells you to "hold up your chin . . . Things will be better after while . . . And you should face them with a smile" . . . Which is, I think, the final test . . . And if we do not shoot this pest . . . At once, and otherwise restrain . . . Ourselves, I think perhaps we're sane . . . Although we doubt it while we wait . . . For Lady Luck or Madam Fate . . . Well, that's about all I can say . . . I "reckon" this is not my day.

Husband Must Stick With Wife

QUESTION: I married a girl I thought I loved, and a year after our marriage she got polio and was left paralyzed. She will be hopelessly crippled all her life. She even admits she cannot be a proper wife, and has said she will give me a divorce so I can remarry. I am young and have my whole life before me; what should I do? —F. G.

ANSWER: If the situation were reversed, and you were the one who was afflicted, would you want your wife to remarry? I'm sure you wouldn't. You're too selfish to agree to such a thing, and that is the basis of your problem. I can understand what a blow this affliction has been to both of you, and I do sympathize.

But you have no Biblical reason for divorce, and when you stood at the sacred altar you said: "For better for worse, in sickness or in health." This was a vow you took before God, and I don't think you could ever live with yourself if you turned this dear afflicted girl down and married another.

I meet people every day with perfectly normal bodies who are having marital difficulties much more serious than your problem. It takes more than physical health to make a happy marriage, and although your situation is different and perhaps difficult. God will give you the grace to be a faithful husband. May God give you the strength to do right.

Regents to Discuss Setting Up Farm Post

The State Board of Regents will meet in Augusta in May to discuss a request by the General Assembly that it create a new staff position for coordinating agricultural matters with which the board deals.

The 1960 General Assembly passed a resolution urging the regents to create the office of director of agricultural matters to help coordinate the activities of the College of Agriculture at the University of Georgia, the state agricultural experiment stations and other farm matters under regents' jurisdiction.

The board referred the request to Chancellor Harmon Caldwell, board chairman Robert O. Arnold, the board's committee on research and extension, the House Agriculture committee and Commissioner of Agriculture Phil Campbell. The committee was directed to make a report to the full Board of Regents at its May meeting in Augusta.

Vets Must Stage Comebacks To Make Bucs Contenders

(This is the eighth in a series of major league clubs training in Florida.)

FORT MYERS, Fla.—Richard Lee Stuart had parked his convertible Cadillac, stored expensive sports shirt, slacks and straw hat in clubhouse locker and now he was wearing working clothes and ready to continue on-the-job training at first base.

The fact that Stuart is living the good life as a major leaguer with Pittsburgh surprised several minor league pilots who attempted to hide him from the hitters. Ex-Cracker manager Clyde King, who tutored Stuart briefly at Hollywood, and Buddy Bates, who managed the slugger in Atlanta, weren't members of the Big Stu Club.

Outlar

Richard Lee Stuart is right where he expected to be. He never doubted that his powerful bat would carry him to the majors.

Stuart is something of a cosmopolitan Dizzy Dean. He has supreme confidence, refreshing color and exceptional talent at home plate.

"Do you think you'll hit 58 or 59 home runs this year?" a dugout visitor inquired.

"Sixty," Stuart said. "There's no need to be satisfied with anything less."

Big Stu doesn't want to tie Babe Ruth's record. He wants to break it. He smacked 27 homers in his first complete season in the majors. Employed in 118 games, Stuart collected 118 hits and batted .297.

"I'll hit much better if I can play regularly," Stuart said. "I need to be in there every day."

Manager Danny Murtaugh would use Stuart every day if the two-platoon system were legal in baseball. If the Pirates could employ Moultrie's R. C. Stevens on defense and Stuart on offense, they'd have the best first baseman in baseball.

—Big Stu Is Self-Styled First Baseman

Though Stuart concedes that he's no Hal Chase at first base, he doesn't agree with citizens who contend that he's allergic to ground balls.

BUC SLUGGER DICK STUART (R), ACE PITCHER VERNON LAW HAM IT UP

Big Stu Predicts He'll Hit 60 Homers If Played Regularly; Law Shoots for 18 Wins Again

"I should have played first base when I was in Atlanta," Stuart said. "Bates tried to play me at third, and I'm just not a third baseman."

A man mentioned that Stuart's presence in the majors had surprised some folks. "I was determined to get here and prove they were wrong," Stuart said. "I wanted to cram it down their throats."

Now Stuart's goal is to become the leading home run producer in the majors, and he'll have ample opportunity this season, for the Pirates desperately need his power.

Manager Danny Murtaugh was asked to elaborate on Stuart's work at first base.

"About the same," said Murtaugh. "He's improved since he came up, and we're very happy to have him. You hear all this stuff about Stuart, but he's an easy guy to manage."

Murtaugh, expected merely to complete the 1957 season after relieving Bobby Bragan, is now starting his fourth year as the Pirate chief.

Jesse* OUTLAR

★ Sports Editor, The Constitution ★

General manager Joe Brown, who first hired Murtaugh to manage New Orleans, gambled on Danny in the majors and won. The Pirates were second in 1958 and fourth last year, making Murtaugh the most successful Pittsburgh boss in more than two decades.

Murtaugh thinks the Pirates will be a first division club again, perhaps a pennant contender if several ifs can be erased. For example, George Witt and Curt Raydon had a combined 17-6 record in '58. Plagued by arm ailments, they didn't contribute a single victory last season.

—Umbricht Earning Starting Assignment

Bob Friend, a 22-game winner the previous year, didn't log a victory until May last season and wound up 8-19. Bob Skinner dipped from .321 to .280; Bill Mazeroski from .275 and 19 homers to .241 and eight homers.

"We believe those fellows will have better years," Murtaugh said, "but you can't tell about this game. We have some young fellows we're counting on. This boy Jim Umbricht from Georgia has looked great.

"Umbricht seems to have found himself last year at Salt Lake City (14-8). He appears to have everything it takes to be a pitcher. He has a good chance right now of being a regular starter for us."

Umbricht, former University of Georgia basketball and baseball star and an ex-Cracker, recently collaborated with Bennie Daniels on a no-hitter against Detroit.

"Harvey Haddix, Friend and Vern Law are the only three sure starters right now," Murtaugh said. "Umbricht, Daniels, Gross, Raydon, Witt or some of the others will have to come through.

"Tom Cheney (an Atlantan) has a chance if he can improve his control. He has good stuff, but he hasn't been able to get the ball over," Murtaugh continued. "Over-all our pitching outlook is brighter."

The Pirates, of course, have the finest bullpen in baseball in Roy Face. Face compiled a fantastic 18-1 record with a fourth-place club last year, appearing in 57 games.

Smoky Burgess and Hal Smith, acquired from Kansas City, will do most of the catching. Danny Kravitz is apt to log his sixth season as a stand-in catcher, and Bob Oldis is attempting to oust Kravitz.

The infield cast returns with Stuart and Rocky Nelson at first, Mazeroski at second, Dick Groat at short and Don Hoak at third.

Gino Cimoli, obtained from St. Louis for pitcher Ronnie Kline, should reinforce the outfield when he recovers from an arm injury. Bill Virdon, Skinner, Roberto Clemente, Roman Mejias are holdovers and rookie Joe Christopher is making a bid for employment. He batted .301 at Columbus (Ohio) last year.

The Pirates should finish in the first division for the third straight year, an achievement they haven't achieved since 1938.

PANCHO GONZALES IS POISED TO STRIKE A BLOW FOR TENNIS VICTORY

Pro Champ Outlasted Rookie Alex Olmedo at Service Line Here Tuesday Night, 12-10, 6-3

Rosewall Nips Segura

By MICKEY LOGUE

Pancho Gonzales, fastest gun alive in professional tennis, kept serving cannon balls until Alex Olmedo finally cracked here Tuesday night.

It looked like an etsimated 1,500 City Auditorium customers might be staying for breakfast until Gonzales scored the first service break in the 21st game.

All told, the world champion took 55 minutes and 124 points going one-up on the stubborn Peruvian rookie, 12-10.

The last set was merely a routine mopping up exercise for Gonzales, who broke service the first and ninth games against an opponent now erratic under the strain of Pancho's consistency. The score was 6-3.

Earlier, Australian Ken Rosewall came from behind and defeated the grand old man, Pancho Segura, 10-8, in a "pro set" that saw the new "three-bounce" game at its best.

Making what he promises is his last tour, Gonzales meets Rosewall in Wednesday's main event here and Segura tackles Olmedo in the 7:30 p.m. opening match.

Olmedo played a more poised and powerful game against Gonzales than his anemic 7-28 record indicates.

"The kid played real well," Gonzales informed Segura in the dressing room. "If he played that hard throughout the tour, he would have won more matches.

"He did well against me early in the tour. This developed his confidence and he has kept playing well against me. If he can develop this same confidence against the others, he will do all right in pro tennis.

"How does he compare with Lew Hoad? Hoad's the complete player, and this guy is still learning. He's a year and a half away from being in that class."

The famed Gonzales' serve obviously grew stronger as the battle wore on.

"Yes, it did," he agreed. "The

Hot Mizell Chills Braves; Bucs, A's Go Rolling Along

From Press Dispatches

Vinegar Bend Mizell restricted Milwaukee to three hits in six innings as the St. Louis Cardinals took an 8-1 decision from the Braves Tuesday.

Elsewhere in Florida exhibition games, Gene Baker's sacrifice fly in the ninth inning gave Pittsburgh its sixth straight win and second in a row over the Chicago White Sox, 9-8; Wally Moon's pinch double good for two runs got Los Angeles a 6-5 verdict over New York; Washington pitching aces Camilo Pascual and Pedro Ramos allowed only three hits between 'em to beat Baltimore, 2-1; catcher Frank House homered twice as Cincinnati bested Philadelphia, 7-6; and the Kansas City A's stunned Detroit, 5-1, as Norm Siebern slammed a two-run homer.

Across the country in Arizona, Boston Red Sox third baseman Frank Malzone's eighth-inning single, his 15th hit in 19 spring trips, score the go-ahead run as the Bosox shaded Cleveland, 9-5; and Joe Amalfitano's 12th-inning single-handed San Francisco a 9-8 decision over the Chicago Cubs. Orlando Cepeda's three-run homer in the ninth and Eddie Bressoud's two-run blast in the 11th had twice tied it, giving Amalfitano his victory chance.

Juan Pizarro's wildness gave the Cards a two-run start in the first inning. The Braves' starter walked in both runs. In his four-inning stint, he allowed four walks, fanned six, gave up two hits and hit two. Chris Cannizzaro had a two-run homer and double in the Cards' 12-hit attack.

Pittsburgh twice blew six-run leads before Baker's sacrifice settled it in the ninth and pinned the loss on rookie Rudy Arias. Bob Skinner's there-run homer and a bases-empty blast by rookie lefty Alvin Jackson powered the Bucs' 14-hit offense, while Jim Rivera swatted a two-run, game-tying Chisox homer in the seventh.

Fascual worked four inings and struck out eight Orioles and became a winner when Lenny Green's single snipped a 1-1 tie.

House's second homer broke a 6-6 deadlock in the lower eighth and gave the win to rookie Jay Hook, who hurled one-hit ball over the last five frames.

Ray Herbert and John Tsitouris, a pair of ex-Tigers, held Detroit to only Johnny Groth's bases-empty homer in the eighth.

OFF THE FIELD: Boston Red Sox catcher Sammy White, who retired from baseball because he was traded to Cleveland, said that was the exact reason he retired. "The Red Sox management knew what I would do if I were trded," he said. "This thing hit me at the most inopportune time

KANSAS CITY-BOUND

EAGER DENTON WANTS SHOT AT ALL-STAR GUARD POST

Georgia Tech's Dave Denton emplaned for Kansas City Tuesday evening determined to make his last college basketball game his best.

He will play for the East All-Stars against the West Saturday night as first reported by The Constitution last month.

"A lot of times players take all-star games for granted," the Bowling Green, Ky. senior said, "but I'm going to give it all I've got. I want to make a real good showing."

Among other things, Denton's out to convince six professional basketball teams that already have contacted him.

Denton was an all-Southeastern Conference forward as Tech rolled to a record 22-6 record and a runnerup berth in the Mideast Regional tournament. Though officially listed at 6-1½, he insists he is actually 6-3.

Denton is looking forward to playing guard in the all-star game.

"I presume I'll be playing guard," he said, "and I'd rather play that position. I've been up against a taller man nearly every game at forward."

Denton brought inside duties on himself at Tech. Despite being shorter than many of his teammates, he was the squad's best rebounder.

"I think Dave will be a fine guard," said Jacket Assistant Coach Byron Gilbreath. "He handles and dribbles the ball well. And he shoots well enough on the moving shot to play guard.

"One man can't stay with him. He'll help free some guys inside. And I think Dave will get more assist there than he got at Tech. And he had plenty at Tech."—LOGUE

Hagge Casting a Wishful Eye On Columbus as Step to Top

Always a Contender, She Bids for R. C. Open Crown

By JACK WILLIAMS

It's a strange tag for a married woman, but they're using that old line "bridesmaid, never a bride" to describe the golf play of Marlene Bauer Hagge these days.

It fits.

Mrs. Hagge hasn't won a tournament of any kind in 14 months, but she's been up there close to the top all the time, pocketing money in the last 31 events.

And so now comes the R. C. Cola Open at Columbus, an event in which Mrs. Hagge might just crack that "bride's circle."

It was at Columbus last year that she played some of her best golf of the season, finishing in second place, just four strokes behind champion Betsy Rawls.

And Mrs. Hagge tells everyone that the Columbus Country Club course is one of her favorites. Her 1959 scores of 76-75-75-73 should attest to that.

Add to this an eighth place finish in the extremely tough Titleholders last week, and Mrs. Hagge shapes up as a chief contender for the Columbus crown.

Pretty Marlene will be one of 32 lady pros teeing off Wednesday along with 125 men amateurs in a giant pro-am, kicking off the R. C. Cola Tournament.

Then on Thursday, the pros go out in quest of the big title in the 72-hole event which is scheduled to wind up Sunday.

Wednesday's pro-am, which has one lady pro paired with three male amateurs, starts at 11 a.m. Foursomes will tee off on both nines to speed up play.

LPGA President Marilynn Smith has the honor of going off in the first foursome. She'll have as her teammates a trio of Columbus amateurs, tournament chairman Jake Ivey; Columbus Country Club President Curtis Jordon Jr., and Zeke Carter.

Starting play on the other nine will be pro Gloria Armstrong with amateurs Joe Flourney, Carl Patrick and Lou Hill, all of Columbus.

MARLENE HAGGE
Trailing a Trophy

Mrs. Hagge, in her bid to break the charmed winning circle, will have rugged competition.

One of the favorites has to be Fay Crocker, the 46-year-old South American, who coasted along under terrible weather conditions to win the famed Titleholders at Augusta.

Then, there's Mickey Wright, the two-time U.S. Open champion, who's a threat in every tournament she enters. Miss Wright's already a two-time winner on the current tour.

McIntire Wins in North-South

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Barbara McIntire won her second North and South amateur golf championship in four years Tuesday, defeating Joanne Goodwin, 5 and 4, in the 18-hole finals.

Miss McIntire, the National Amateur champion, was 3-up at the turn and after losing the 10th hole won three of the next four to close out her rival.

Miss McIntire was 2 over par for the 14 holes the match ran.

Stetson Bobbles Give Tech 9-8 Decision

Special to The Constitution

DELAND, Fla.—Georgia Tech's baseball team spotted Stetson a four-run lead here Tuesday, then accepted a gift 9-8 victory from the bobbling hosts.

Four errors gave Tech a big five-run sixth inning and made reliefer Gerry Lindsey a winner. Mike Thomas' sacrifice fly brought in the third run of the inning and gave Tech a 7-6 edge. An error and Jerry Meyer's single plated the eventual winners.

Relief pitcher Gene Carnathan escaped a last bid by Stetson as fielding star Bobby Dewes forced a runner with a nifty play and stopped the Hatters' rally at two runs.

Dews, who had a double and two singles and an RBI, sparkled afield at shortstop. His leaping catch robbed Hatter hitter Don Miller of a perfect five-for-five. As it was, Miller settled for three singles and a double.

Jack Wilson and Lindsey had two hits apiece for Tech, which is now 2-0 on the season.

Hapeville's Charlie Thompson opened the big sixth with a double. Wilson and Lindsey lived on errors and Bobby Sheridan doubled in two runs. Thomas' sacrifice fly scored a third and Sheridan came in as George Inman was safe on a miscue. Meyer's single got in the fifth tally.

Lefthander Curtis Beavers started for Tech, with Lindsey coming on in the third as Stetson took a 6-2 edge. Carnathan arrived in the seventh and nailed down the verdict.

Seminoles Romp

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Florida State paraded 15 runs across in two innings to hand Auburn a 22-8 baseball loss Tuesday.

The Seminoles took advantage of 14 hits and nine Auburn walks in squaring a three-game series at one game each. The teams play again Wednesday.

Junior right-hander Frank Davis won his third game of the season, allowing Auburn nine hits and four runs during the seven innings he worked.

Centerfielder Bob Clem of Atlanta had a triple and three singles for FSU. Second baseman Ray Brazzell and catcher Bill Westendick each hit home runs for the winners.

Chess Master Draws

MOSCOW (AP)—Defending Champion Mikhail Botvinnik and the young Latvian challenger, Mikhail Tal, played to their third straight draw Tuesday in their 28-match series for the world chess championship.

'NAME-DROPPING' WITH WALKER

ARE HARKNESS, FANTUZZI AND MILES ATLANTA-BOUND?

By CHARLIE ROBERTS
Constitution Sports Writer

VERO BEACH, Fla.—Rube Walker, who has steadfastly refused to be a "name caller" up until now, sounded off with a few in Dodgertown Monday night.

The names the Cracker manager rattled off were those of some baseball players he hopes the parent Los Angeles club will let him have to help Atlanta make a strong bid for the 1960 Southern Assn. pennant.

Exclusive of pitchers, the fellow on the current Atlanta roster with the best chance to stick with the Crackers, Walker believes, is outfielder Al Fantuzzi, from 1954 through 1957 a baseball and basketball sensation at Rollins College.

Two others name-dropping Walker has in mind as being people who might help the Crackers become contenders are currently on the roster of the world champion Dodgers—first baseman Tim Harkness and outfielder Don Miles. Each played for the Crackers and got a single in Monday's 4-2 victory over Class AAA St. Paul in bright sunshine and high, cold winds.

"From what I've seen of Miles and Harkness they should be able to be fine players for Atlanta; both are all-the-way lefties with power and could bomb that fairly short Ponce de Leon Park fence, not to mention the one in Sulphur Dell in Nashville," grinned Walker.

"Fantuzzi—well, he has been swinging the bat with more telling effect than anyone on our roster. He appears to be a great athlete, which I understand he is."

Harkness, a 6-1, 180-pounder from Lachine, Canada, and a glove artist at first base, belted 19 home runs and batted in 79 runs in 103 games at Green Bay, Wisc. last year, batting .316. Stan Wasiak, veteran Southern leaguer from Mobile who managed Harkness during his Class B Three-I League binge, says, "I wouldn't be surprised if he is ready for the Southern. He can really swing that bat."

Miles, 23 years old, 6-1 high and 210 heavy, belted 23 round trippers and batted in 58 runs while hitting .281 in 81 games for pennant-winning Victoria of the Texas League. He knocked home 19 more and bashed six homers while rapping a meager .227 for Spokane of the AAA Pacific Coast League.

Fantuzzi, who played against Los Angeles' fabulous Frank Howard when the big belter was at Ohio State and Fantuzzi at Rollins, hit .290 with Green Bay in his pro break-in year after a short tour with Macon of the Sally League.

A 23-year-old native of Patterson, N.J., Fantuzzi was a four-year regular for Coach Joe Justice and in his freshman season helped spark Rollins to the NCAA finals. A southpaw swinger, the 6-1, 175-pounder batted .330 as a junior.

Just returned from a military service hitch, Fantuzzi says, "I'm in fine shape and it surely would be good to make it with the Crackers."

TRAINING TID-BITS—Atlantan Jimmy Hannah, former star third baseman with Bass High and Mercer University, may be signed any day by scout Leon Hamilton, Dodgertown supervisor. The 6-0, 190-pound Hannah is a long ball hitter and would be on contract now except for a knee injury that he says is fully healed. . . . The Dodgers thought so much of Pug Churchwell, Macon Dudley Hughes grad, that they protected him from the draft by putting him on the AAA Montreal roster despite an injury-plagued break-in '59 campaign in which he was 0-2 at Macon and 1-2 at Orlando. Still 18 years old, the 6-2, 200-pounder was a four-year regular in baseball, football and basketball for Goot Steiner and pitched and won a double-header to give Hughes the state Class C championship his senior year. He struck out four, forced two to ground out in 2 innings on the mound, got a single in his only trip at bat in finishing out his career in The Constitution's North-South All-Star game.

Hungry Lakers Stun Hawks to Take Lead

ST. LOUIS (AP)—History repeated itself Tuesday night as the hungry Minneapolis Lakers stunned the St. Louis Hawks, 117-110, in overtime, taking the crucial fifth game in the Western Division playoff finals. Once again amazing Elgin Baylor was the executioner with a 40-point effort.

Jim Pollard's dead-game club now has a death grip on the National Basketball Assn. Western Playoff title with a 3-2 lead and the sixth game coming up Thursday night in Minneapolis.

A year ago, the underdog Lakers took an overtime victory in the fifth game of the Western final and went on to wrap up the title the next day in Minneapolis. The game followed the same pattern as the first four—the Hawks jumping away to a 14-point lead and threatening to turn it into a rout.

The Lakers tied the score at halftime 47-47 and led through most of the second half.

Hawk star Bob Pettit fouled out with 1:25 left in the game and the Hawks trailing 107-99.

Ex-Hawk Frank Selvy gave himself a 20-point night by flipping in the last goal.

Pettit and Hagan had 25 points each and Si Green nearly rescued the Hawks in the second half with 18 points, giving him 24 for the game.

Seabrook Threatens High Jump

By DICK SEWELL

Cherubic-faced and crew-cut Billy Seabrook of Sylvan, who was told to go out for track, leaped five inches higher than he ever has in competition Tuesday afternoon to come within three-quarters of an inch of the city high jump record.

Seabrook, a 6-2, 200-pound junior, high jumped six feet, two inches in the Atlanta high school's qualifying meet for the Florida Relays at Grady Stadium.

Previously he had hit the 5-9 mark in an intracity meet with Northside last year, his first season as a high jumper.

"Coach Jimmy Green (Sylvan football coach then) told me to go out for track," Seabrook explained, "and I like to jump so that's what I did. I'm not much of a runner."

In practice last Saturday the all-around athlete jumped an even six feet—at the same pit in Grady Stadium. Trying to break Billy Salter's city record set in 1954 of 6-2¾, the bar was placed at 6-3, but on three tries he missed.

He still has the rest of the city track season left to accomplish the feat. Another year of track, too. "I'm sure he'll get the record," Sylvan track coach Lawrence Graves said. "He's got to lose about five pounds, then he'll really get up there."

There were three cindermen—Grady's long drink of water Don (Bones) Baxter, 6-5, 180 pounder; West Fulton's Joe Wootten, six-foot, 155-pound senior, and Seabrook—who hit the six-foot mark in the high jump.

Those three will journey with about 35 other Atlanta prepers to the Relays this Saturday on the University of Florida campus in Gainesville, Fla.

Southwest and North Fulton placed seven men in the qualifying for the trip. Grady will carry six and Northside five .

Several more city trackmen get a chance to gain the trip to the relays at 4 p.m. Wednesday afternoon at Grady.

Finals were held in the high jump, pole vault and mile run Tuesday. In the other events, participants will run against prescribed times and throw the shot for possible qualification.

Chamberlain, Gola Brake Celts' Rush

BOSTON (AP)—Healthy Wilt Chamberlain and hungry Tom Gola brought Philadelphia from the brink of elimination to a crushing 128-107 National Basketball Assn. playoff victory over Boston Tuesday night.

The 7-feet-1 phenom poured in 50 points as he showed no ill effects from his injured right hand, though it still was swollen. He frustrated the Celtics' hopes of wrapping up the best-of-seven Eastern Division finals which Boston now leads, 3-2.

While Philadelphia hit 50 per cent of its field-goal tries in the first 12 minutes, Boston made only seven of 27 shots.

Hot-in-Cold Mound Threesome Warms Cracker Pilot's Hopes

Shackle Saints On Four Hits

By CHARLIE ROBERTS
Constitution Sports Writer

VERO BEACH, Fla. — Three young Los Angeles Dodger-owned fireballers warmed the cockles of Atlanta manager Rube Walker's head in near freezing weather here Tuesday night as his Crackers belted St. Paul's Saints, 3-1, for their third straight exhibition victory over class AAA opposition.

"Boy, did you see those blazers lefty Terry Barber and those two righthanders (Tommy Wells and Lenny Schnittker) were throwing out there," enthused Walker after the teams had managed only four hits each in the seven-inning wrangle.

"I almost forgot how cold it was watching those kids cut loose like that and knowing we'll get a crack at some of them. Wells—there is a fellow who can fire—really mowed us down, and Barber and Schnittker and that Frenchman who pitched the last inning (right-hander Marcel Guilbault) didn't give Danny Ozark's fellows a thing they could hit."

Walker wanted to get in one more plug, because one good catcher always admires another good mittman. "That Ron Boone, who caught for us and doubled to set up our first score (in the third inning), is an exceptionally fine catcher. I'll sure grab him if I get the chance. "These were the highlight impressions after the Crackers' first night battle of the spring session at Holman Field.

Wells is a 21-year-old husky out of Murray, Ky., who posted a 14-7 won-lost chart at Reno in the class C California League last year. Barber, 19-year-old sensation not a year removed from Fort Worth, Tex. high school play, struck out 214 batters while posting a 13-9 record at Odessa in the Sophomore League.

Schnittker, strapping 190-pound 22-year-old out of Nashville, Kan., and Boone arrived without such glittering credentials. Schnittker, who fanned three batters in one inning, was only 9-11 at Great Falls (class C Pioneer), the club for which mitt artist Boone hit a meek .237.

Stars Picked Here Against Falstaffs

By PAUL ATKINSON

So who will you take . . . Falstaffs or the Atlanta Bowling All-Stars?

Paul Atkinson

This reporter's going up what may be a blind alley—lane, that is—and predict at least a split of the six games for the All-Stars. And it wouldn't surprise if the Stars took four games.

Team Captain Gray Hammond is one who shares that opinion.

"I think we've got a good chance against the Falstaffs," he said the other day. "One thing that will be in our favor is that we've got the home lanes, and will have the home crowd behind us.

"Then I think that the fellows on our side will be trying just a little harder. It's a challenge bowling against a team such as the Falstaffs."

There's talent galore on the All-Stars. Hammond, Ralph Brunt, Bill Pace, Hal Evans, Jimmy Morris and Guy Bell will represent Atlanta.

Just last weekend Hammond, Brunt, Pace, Evans and Morris averaged better than 200 per game between 'em in the Atlanta Major Traveling League.

Since we've already predicted an All-Star win, here's a rundown of how the tallysheets might read:

At Triangle—All Stars: Brunt, 625; Morris, 625; Evans, 605; Bell, 601; Hammond, 627. Team total—3,083.

Falstaffs—Harry Smith, 623; Steve Nagy, 595; Al Savas, 598; Dick Hoover, 625; Billy Welu, 607. Team total—3,048.

At Broadview Bowl-O-Matic—All-Stars: Brunt, 617; Pace, 634; Morris, 601; Evans, 619; Hammond, 607. Team total—3,078.

TENPIN ALLEY: Here's a final reminder on the schedule for the AMF Free Clinics here Wednesday and Thursday. Today—10 a.m. at Medlock Auto-Bowl; 3 p.m. at Atlanta Bowling Center; 8:30 at Marietta Lanes. Thursday—10 a.m. at Triangle Lanes; 3 at Larry Bell Lanes, Marietta. Those stars again will be Pat McBride and Esther Woods, Jack Aydelotte and Frank Clause. Incidentally, Woods and Clause will stay over through Friday and will be at Triangle all day for instructions. . . . Ralph Brunt will be head of the pro shop at the new Suburban Plaza Bowling Center just off Scott Blvd. in Decatur when it opens in mid-June, according to manager Jerry Griffin. . . . And the tournaments really roll. Cobb County Women's Assn. holds its tournament Saturday and Sunday at Marietta Lanes, with Minit-Car Wash defending its title. Jeannine Blackwell, who won both the singles and all-events handicap last year; doubles victors M. J. Foltz and Betty Tucker and co-all-events scratch winners Tucker and Daisy Trout return to defend their championships. The men's state opens a big run at Live Oak Lanes in Savannah, the regional Knights of Columbus Tournament commences at Broadview Bowl-O-Matic Saturday. . . . Both Broadview and Belmont Bowl will entertain tournaments of note in the near future. The Dogwood City Classic will go at Broadview May 27-29, June 3-5 with an $800 first prize, while Southern Bowler Magazine 700 Club will have its conclave at Belmont Sept. 3-4. A sanctioned 700 series is needed to be eligible for the tournament. . . . It'll be interesting to see how Bob Nystrom, 20-year-old Albany bowler, follows up his spectacular Southern Bowling Congress showing. In the weekend Little Rock doings, Nystrom had a bristling 2,015 all-events scratch, 2,153 all-events handicap, 755 singles and spearheaded Mid-Town Bowling to the team lead with a 3,167 report. To those mathematically inclined, Nystrom averaged 223.9 scratch per game. Wow!

ATLANTA'S BOOMING bowling industry gets three more new lanes within the next five months. Triangle Lanes, Inc., has set up two new locations, bringing to 100 the number of lanes the Dick Stern group has here. Thirty-two will go up at Glenwood and Columbia and the same number at Stone road and Fairburn road. They'll have AMF equipment, including pro shop, snack bar, restaurant, club room and will be 100 per cent clear span. The Glenwood will open around July 25, while a June 25 date has been set for the other. And the first Negro bowling center in the South, 40 lanes, to be known as Country Club Lanes, located at Simpson and Mason Turner, will open in mid-August. Zenah Sears is president of the corporation and Stan Raymond vice president. . . . Joe Tolbert came up with a 278 game Monday bowling for the Pollock Paper Bulldogs at Triangle Lanes.

SCOREBOARDING: American Legion Post 65, Falstaff, Berkeley Pump and Bowman's Transportation, 1-4, in American Division of Northside Tenpin League at 68½-43½, 67-45, 67-45 and 66½-45½. Joe Pecora had a 252 game, 587 series Monday, while in National Division, Ralph Brunt, Hammond, Lenny Brooks, LeRoy Stout, Howard Burton, Ernie Moorehead, Karl Bartholomew and Buddy Middlebrooks had series of 641, 629, 627, 620, 617, 610, 607 and 602. Brunt had a 259 game; Hammond, 236. Southern Latex leads, 66-42, to Brunswicks' 65-47. . . . Falstaffs put together games of 951, 1,011 and 850 for a 2,812 in the ABC last week. . . . Sunday at 3 p.m., CBS-TV's Sports Spec features bowling (WAGA-TV) with Joe Wilman, Andy Varipapa, Buddy Bomar, Ned Day, Buzz Fazio, Bob Chase, Marion Ladewig showing the finer points of bowling. Alan Ameche and Yogi Berra of football and baseball fame duel a similar duo. Johnny Unitas and Robin Roberts, in a "Scotch doubles" match. . . . Personal to a Thief: Those bowling records stolen from Atlanta Major Traveling League secretary Hal Evans the other day won't do you any good. So how about returning 'em, care of Broadview Bowl-O-Matic? .

ALEX OLMEDO TRIES A SCOOP SHOT

Gonzales Finishes Strong

last couple of years my serve and all-around game has gotten better as the match progresses. Seems like it takes me 20 minutes to get going.

"My return of service has been off lately. That is where Alex was hurting me in the first set. I was beginning to get leery about winning that set, but after I broke service I had a big psychological advantage.

"The man who wins such a close set is bound to pick up a lot of confidence for the next one."

Olmedo saw his loss as just a matter of mistakes.

"Make one error in this professional tennis and you're dead," he said, punctuating his appraisal with the classic throat-cutting gesture.

"I double-faulted and missed an overhead and he broke my service. I thought I played good tennis until the mistakes."

Gonzales was dissatisfied with his racquet.

"I have four with me," he said. "Three are dead and the one I used tonight is warped. Isn't that something for a fellow who's supposed to be expert in this game?"

Gonzales carries an uncatchable 32-5 tour record against Rosewall, second with 22-14.

"Rosewell will be tougher than Olmedo," he said. "He's quicker and more consistent. He doesn't make so many errors."

Pancho is sticking with his tested game.

"I'll serve and rush the net as always," he said.

After trailing most of the match, the 5-7, 140-pound Rosewall broke Segura's service to go ahead, 8-7.

"I was lucky to break when I did," Rosewall said. "Much longer and it would have been too late. I was pushing my backhand early in the match."

"I was pretty good," said Segura, whose courage at 38 appealed to the viewers, "but he was better."

Both disliked some of the service line officiating.

"I don't think one fellow called but one right all night," Rosewall groaned.

Segura is 14-13 on the tour.

Pancho to Bitsy; 'I'll Join You On Sidelines'

World tennis Champion Pancho Gonzales, nearing 32 and showing a little gray hair in his thick black thatch, Tuesday night told Bitsy Grant, Atlanta's beloved veteran:

"They're catching up with me, Bits. I'b going to be joining you on the sidelines pretty soon."

Traders Switching To Supers

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—A new type of stocks — the "supergrowth" stocks — is having a sharp impact on the market, a financial analyst says.

The ultraglamorous issues are in electronics, automation, science and special fields.

Investors Research Co. sees their influence in the way in which the market has been behaving since the start of the year.

CAPITAL SHIFTING

"What is happening, rather than liquidation of stocks in general," says the analyst, "is a tremendous shift of investment capital out of the growth vehicles of the past 15 years.

"And it is flowing, gradually but surely, into what may be broadly termed the 'supergrowth' stocks of the future.

"Look at the securities that are taking a whipping in the market. They are not the high priced issues selling at big multiples of earnings. These are holding magnificently. The real liquidation is occurring in oils, papers, coppers, airlines and, to some extent, the chemicals."

NEW TYPE APPEARS

Investors Research points out that oils, papers and chemicals have been the big growth stocks of the past 15 years and comprise 25 to 45 per cent of the holdings of institutional investors.

"But now," the firm says, "a new kind of maverick has appeared on the investment horizon which offers a serious challenge to the leaders of the past.

"It is the 'super' stock which promises growth far above the secular trend of the economy.

"Who could have foreseen that investment capital would undertake such an enormous shift in this direction? After all, many of the 'supers' sell at huge multiples of current earnings and could be vulnerable to competition in the pell-mell technological race.

"Nevertheless, it is happening. And those who ignore this massive shift in preference may be making the greatest mistake of their investment lives."

Bakery Elects Harris, Dendy As Directors

Southern Bakeries Co. stockholders have elected W. Clair Harris, Winder industrialist, and Carl V. Dendy of Atlanta, vice president in charge of production and industrial relations, to the board of directors.

Seven other directors were re-elected. Directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of 12½ cents on both common and preferred stock, plus an additional dividend of 12½ cents on preferred shares and 18¾ cents interest to holders of $10 debentures. Dividends are payable April 1 to stockholders of record March 24.

President Ogden A. Geilfuss reported "a record year both in sales and profits."

Atlanta Produce

On the Atlanta fruit and vegetable market trading and receipts were light Tuesday morning with prices mostly unchanged, according to the A.M.S. Florida citrus fruits were steady. Georgia sweet potatoes also were steady at 2.00-3.50, mostly 2.50-3.00 per bushel. Florida round type cabbage jobbed 1.50-1.65 per bag. Turnips and greens were slow and unchanged. Georgia turnips ordinary to fair were 1.25-1.75, mostly 1.50 dozen; collards jobbed 1.25-1.50 dozen bunches; turnip greens and mustard sold 1.25-1.50 bushel. Georgia green onions brought mostly around 75c per dozen bunches. Florida best crate yellow corn held at 4.25-4.50; new round red potatoes were steady at 3.25 for size A and 2.75 for U.S. No. 1 size B in 50-pound bags; other Florida vegetables included few Contender beans at 3.00-3.25 for fair quality; few fair Wade beans were 4.00 and pole beans 4.75-5.00 on fairly good quality; few yellow crookneck squash jobbed 3.75-4.00 bushel; cucumbers were too few to quote; medium to large bell peppers jobbed 3.75-4.00 and some small at 2.25. Fair quality eggplant held at 3.50-4.00 bushel; romaine at 2.50; parsley 3.00; escarole and endive at 2.00 per crate were all unchanged. Radishes also were steady at 1.35-1.50, mostly 1.40-1.50 per basket. Florida 16-inch crates of pascal celery 3-4 dozen jobbed mostly 2.75 per crate.

Impact of Steel Strike No Longer a Factor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's economy is no longer getting an extra lift from the aftermath of last year's steel strike because steel shortages have been made up, the Commerce department said Tuesday.

The usual basic business forces affecting supply and demand will determine production and employment from now on, the department said in its monthly review of the business situation.

It said that income and output are at or near record levels and that filling of inventory pipelines has eliminated some production bottlenecks. But replenishment of inventories also means an easing of demand for new goods the department said.

It cited a heavy buildup of new cars in dealers' showrooms as causing some production cutbacks and layoffs in the automobile industry. It said dealers are selling more aggressively than last autumn when new cars were relatively scarce.

The department said the first quarter of 1960 would show a substantial rise in economic performance from the final three months of 1959, when many lines were slowed down by steel shortages.

It said nothing about the overall outlook beyond March. The only bullish factor cited specifically was a 14 per cent increase in capital spending planned by businesses.

Cotton Acres Up 1.19 Million By Choice B

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture department said Tuesday the cotton planting allotments for 1960 have been increased by 1,192,843 acres through selection of the choice B program by cotton producers.

Operators of 61,139 farms elected to grow their cotton under the choice B program. They thereby increased their farm allotments from a total of 2,982,171 acres to 4,175,014, and raised the original 1960 allotment total for all upland cotton from 16,310,000 acres to 17,502,843.

Under the choice B program, the farm cotton allotment is 40 per cent larger than the regular choice A allotment. Cotton produced in compliance with the choice B program will be eligible for support at 60 per cent of parity. Cotton produced under the choice A program will be supported at 75 per cent of parity.

Technicians Needed, Southern Tech Says

Industry still needs technicians "badly," and rumors that the shortage of technicians has eased are unfounded, a spokesman for Chamblee's Southern Technical Institute declared here Tuesday.

Mrs. Mildred T. Wilson, institute placement director, reported figures on starting salaries "prove that industry still wants more technical personnel than exist."

Mrs. Wilson said industry is currently paying technicians an average starting salary of more than $399 per month. She said more than half of Southern Tech's March 18 graduating class of 79 "were placed several weeks before graduation." Remaining students, she said, "already had accepted positions, were going on for further schooling, or were entering military or other federal service."

STRICTLY BUSINESS

"Seems to me I always have the misfortune to work in places that burn down!"

Democrats Accused Of Risking U.S. Credit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bush (R-Conn) accused Democrats Tuesday of a politically inspired and dangerous gamble with the nation's credit on the interest rate issue.

In a Senate speech he rejected a charge voiced in the Chamber Monday by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) that wealthy investors "made a killing" on 5 per cent government securities issued last October. Douglas' point then was that the issue which he called the "fabulous fives" is now selling at a big premium.

Douglas promptly charged anew Tuesday that the rate was too high.

BACKS ADMINISTRATION

Bush backed the administration's contention that the interest ceiling of 4¼ per cent on long-term government bonds cramps the Treasury's efforts to manage the federal debt. He argued that if Congress fails to raise or remove the ceiling this year it will place the government in a "precarious position."

Center of the debate is opposition from Douglas and some other legislators to the Eisenhower administration's request that Congress remove or raise the bond interest ceiling.

In a broadside at "the other side of the aisle," Bush said, "They think they've got a hot political issue. . . . They are gambling . . . with the national credit, on which depends the security of the free world."

"MISLEADING"

He described Douglas' remarks variously as misleading and "not quite fair," contending that 100,000 small Investors had bought much of the $2,300,000,000 issue. The notes run 4 years and 10 months, just under the 5-year maturity limit at which the 4¼ per cent rule applies.

The facts, Douglas insisted, are that the Treasury has been refunding its short-term securities when interest rates were high, and that the 5 per cent issue was part of this policy. Douglas said the issue was "oversubscribed five times, a pretty clear indication that the interest rate was too high."

Douglas later told the Senate he had checked and found the minimum amount of marketable notes an individual or institution can buy is $1,000.

Sales of New Cars Fall to 4-Year Low

By JIM MONTGOMERY

The opening month of 1960 proved the worst January for new car sales in Georgia since 1956.

The superstitious may regard this as a good omen, since 1956 went on to become the second biggest year for new car sales in the state's history.

But omens don't buy cars.

Only customers do that, and according to the official figures Georgians bought only 6,482 new cars this January, which was 2,202 fewer than they bought in January, 1959.

Jim Montgomery

This 25.4 per cent drop is magnified by the fact that nationwide new car registrations in January of this year edged 2.2 per cent over January a year ago.

What's more, the U.S. gain fell woefully short of the almost universally soaring expectations.

The nationwide total of 430,116 for January compared with 420,751 in the same month a year ago, 382,240 in the same 1958 month, 437,320 in the same 1957 month, and 431,648 in the same 1956 month.

Georgia's score of 6,482 was much further out of line with previous January totals, such as 8,684 a year ago, 8,594 in 1958, and 10,506 in 1957.

It even was slightly below the 1956 total of 6,561.

And as compared with January of 1959, only one U.S.-made car—Dodge—could boast of an increase in Georgia sales in January of this year.

Imports also gained, but for most domestic makes January was a bust, and not entirely because of steel shortages.

The following Georgia new car registration figures were compiled by R. L. Polk & Co., and published in this week's issue of Automotive News:

	Georgia New Car Sales January 1960	Number Over (Under) January 1959
State total	6,482	(2,202)
Ford	1,767	(597)
Chevrolet	1,426	(671)
Imports	979	121
Pontiac	494	(160)
Oldsmobile	310	(242)
Buick	289	(173)
Plymouth	286	(154)
Rambler	274	(31)
Dodge	200	71
Mercury	142	(59)
Cadillac	115	(81)
Studebaker	86	(65)
Chrysler	49	(16)
Lincoln	32	(9)
De Soto	20	(25)
Imperial	13	(9)

Conspicuously absent from the registration list for the first time since its ill-fated debut was the name of Edsel, which accounted for 102 sales in Georgia and 3,616 nationally in January, 1959.

Nationwide trends varied considerably from Georgia's in this year's opening month.

Higher sales than a year ago were registered not only by Dodge and the foreign makes, just as in Georgia, but also by Ford, Plymouth, Rambler, Mercury, and Chrysler.

And in terms of sales rank, Chevrolet nosed Ford out of first place by just two units (102,656 for Chevrolet, 102,654 for Ford).

Next, nationally, came the imports, followed in order by Plymouth, Rambler, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Dodge and Buick, with the remainder lining up in the same order they did in Georgia.

Automotive News said U.S.-made compact cars accounted for one out of every five new cars registered throughout the nation in January, and that compacts and imports together were good for more than one out of every four.

It put compact model sales at 83,114, or 19.3 per cent of the January market, made up of 27,650 Falsons, 26,641 Ramblers, 14,297 Corvairs, 7,934 Larks, and 6,592 Valiants.

Import sales in January numbered 40,420, or 9.4 per cent of the nation's total.

No breakdown was available on sales of the various compact models in Georgia.

But as the preceding table shows, imports alone accounted for roughly 15 out of every 100 new cars registered in Georgia in January, and that was the biggest share ever snared by the foreign makes in a single month.

Stocks Sail Ahead On Easier Money

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was encouraged by signs of easier money and managed a moderate advance in quiet trading.

Gains and losses of key stocks ran from fractions to about a point and were pretty esevnly balanced. But enough pivotal issues gained to give the popular market averages a rise.

A drop for the third straight week in the U.S. Treasury's short-term borrowing costs was the kind of easier money news Wall Street likes to hear. This was supported by a drop in interest rates for commercial paper.

"TEST" REFUSED

Traders also found encouragement in the fact that the market has remained at about dead center for the past two trading days, refusing to oblige chartists by descending to another "test" of recent lows.

On the minus side, however, was the fact that steel industry production is slated to go below 90 per cent of capacity for the first time since last November.

Steels and motors were active leaders of the advance for much of the day but lost quite a lot of their upside edge in late dealings.

Some of the electronics derived a bit of impetus from the big electronics exhibition now in New York.

MARKET DETAILS

Nickel Plate, still responding to plans for a merger with Norfolk & Western, was the most active stcok, rising 1⅞ to 35¾ on 48,100 shares. Norfolk & Western advanced 2½ but was not among the volume leaders.

Lockheed, despite the pending decision as to whether the government will ground its Electra Airlines, rebounded ½ from recent losses in active dealings. General Telephone, ahead 1¾ on heavy volume, responded to a successful secondary offering of its stock. Polaroid encountered profit-taking as it fell 1¾ in brisk dealings.

Youngstown Sheet, far below its high for the year, picked up another 5 points in further response to the proposal for a boost in authorized stock to take care of a possible split.

J. C. Penney rose 1 and Cities Service 1. Both reported bigger earnings.

American Stock Exchange prices were irregular. Mesabi Iron rose 4 points as the company studied a plan aimed at avoiding doubled taxation for its stockholders on royalties to be received from Reserve Mining Co.

Corporate bonds were higher.

U.S. government bonds advanced again amid the further evidence of easier money.

"Just an Average American..."
He asked us not to use his name but wrote—
"I'm just an average American, born on a farm, who finished his formal education with two years of high school at age 15. I'm now 71 years old and I'm still continuing my education.
I made my first security investment in 1928 and I've been accruing securities every year since that time. I have bought everything from U. S. Bonds to speculative common stocks. I've made mistakes and taken losses but have managed to be right at least 51% of the time. I'm now retired from business and my portfolio of securities is worth about $200,000. The income my wife and I receive from these securities will run to about $8500 in 1960.
I never had any special training in investment analysis. Anybody can do what I did. All I ask from my Merrill Lynch Account Executive is all the available information on any particular security. From there on I'm content to make up my own mind.
Brokers like you have the responsibility of educating the American people on how they can own part of our country. I hope that this letter may be of some help to you on that job."
We hope so too—that's why we're reprinting it here.

Staple Slow And Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 25 cents a bale higher to 10 cents lower.

Further liquidation in nearby current crop months reflected a slow demand at the primary spot markets and continued dullness in the market for cotton gray cloth.

The feature in futures dealings involved persistent selling of December 1960 futures by a Memphis spot firm, estimated at 3,000 bales. This was believed to represent hedging.

March Wheat Ends at Peak

CHICAGO (AP) — Some grain futures contracts hit their highest and lowest prices of the season as final trading in March deliveries chased them over a broad range.

March wheat expired at its highest peak while March rye slumped to a new low. The distant oats months ended the day at or near their best of the season.

Soybeans held steady to slightly easier generally although late evening up selling in March knocked that contract down a major fraction.

Traders in the wheat pit appeared to be at least mildly impressed by the spring wheat acreage this year which the government indicated will be less than a year ago. The total of both winter and spring crop planted acreage promises to be about 1 per cent under a year ago.

However, a few brokers pointed out that the winter crop shows good prospects of going into the growing months with the smallest losses from winter kill and erosion in the past few years.

Good Health

Gangrene Itself Not Contagious

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is gangrene of the leg contagious? Or is there any danger of infection during a visit with such a person?—Mrs. E. H.

Gangrene is due to plugged arterial circulation. It is not contagious in itself. But the presence of odor means that infection has invaded the area of gangrene and due precautions should, of course, be taken to keep that area covered. To make it plainer, a cut finger isn't contagious. If the cut becomes infected, then keep the infection from being transferred to anyone else, or to any other part of the person who has the infected cut.

Dear Dr. Molner: Will you write about impetigo? I was told it was an inflammation of the skin. What causes it? Does it ever disappear for good, or does it recur? Is diet a factor? —Mrs. I. P.

Impetigo is a highly contagious infection of the skin, often seen in small children. It is due to the staphyloccoccus (or "staph") germ. It is probably conveyed by some person with a "staph" infection: perhaps a boil, stye or "staph" infection in the nose or some other part of the body.

Diet has nothing to do with it. Treatment includes extreme cleanliness; care in handling the infected area (as the germ may, in turn, spread to others), and the use of antibiotics. When you are rid of it, it will not recur unless in some way the germ is picked up again.

Dr. Molner is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.
